'Widespread wrongdoing' Major changes sweep city department

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Following the appointment of a new director of the Romulus Department of Public Works, allegations of wrongdoing prompted the firing of two top foremen.

Michigan State Police are conducting interviews with city employees and investigating the situation, according to Mayor Beverly McAnally.

McAnally said, the abuse is "widespread" and "has been a longstanding problem." The two men were fired for "contract violations and dishonesty."

Others are involved, she said.

McAnally describes the situation as a "heartbreak."

"We've had some problems. Several city employees have been involved in widespread wrongdoing. It had become such a habit, they weren't even thinking about it anymore. We can't go on conjecture. We need evidence. The state police have begun a criminal investigation. We're still conducting pre-disciplinary hearings," said McAnally.

She noted that over a period of years from reports she's heard from the public and other sources, "Thousands and thousands of dollars in time and materials have been stolen from the city."

Assistant DPW Director Ray Striz said, "The city is internally addressing a personnel problem." He would say no more.

Milt Tumbler, spokesman for AFSCME Local 214 which represents the fired employees said, "Disciplinary hearings are being conducted with employees. There is an ongoing investigation of the situation."

Last week, McAnally appointed Jim Panos to the position left vacant by the death last March of Director Bob Plank. Striz had been acting director in the interim.

McAnally said Panos, a former Teamsters' representative, has "strong management and personnel skills."

"One big advantage with Panos is everybody knows him and trusts him. He is unique for the job. He doesn't owe anybody anything. He can be purely objective," she said.

She noted his familiarity with the city contract which would finally "be used to the advantage of the city."

"He knows the contract backward and forward," McAnally said.

Crash memorial revealed

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus and Wayne County officials have tentatively announced plans for a memorial to victims and their families of the Northwest Flight 255 which crashed in Romulus Aug. 16.

Local officials have debated the construction and location of the proposed monument.

According to Mayor Beverly McAnally, Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara will make an official announcement next week.

"The county will build a permanent memorial to the crash victims and their families. There are three components to the present proposal," she said.

One component includes an actual facility in the courtyard of city hall. This would be a "little quiet spot" with a waterfall and place to sit.

A scholarship fund would also be established.

And a small chapel would be constructed inside the airport.

McAnally noted that Atlanta airport houses such a chapel with a stained-glass window and seating for about 10 people. The chapel would be interdenominational and non-sectarian. Again, this would be a quiet place where people can be alone.

Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks is also a member of the memorial committee.

Wayne County is currently working with airlines officials to determine the best location for the onsite chapel.

Donna Hoeveryer, 51, left, was installed as the new postmaster of the Romulus Post Office during a special ceremony last Thursday. She succeeds Martha Wensko who retired earlier this year after almost 10 years of service. Hoeveryer wasted no time assisting clerks, Silvia Rossier and Loretta Gregg during her first week at work. She was born and raised in Dundee where she and her husband, Kurt, make their home. They have four children and one grandchild. She formerly served as postmaster in the Whittaker Post office. Robbery suspect is Romulus resident

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Canton Police solved at least two recent armed robberies in the township and two from surrounding communities with the arrest of a Romulus resident last week.

Richard L. Burrell, 39, of Romulus was arraigned on two charges of armed robbery and one for possessing a firearm in 35th District Court before Judge John MacDonald on Friday.

Police said they have evidence linking Burrell with the Thanksgiving weekend robbery of a White Castle restaurant and the robbery of a McDonald's Restaurant earlier this month.

"This was real good detective work," said Canton spokesperson officer Dave Bolgesic. "He confessed to four different robberies," he added. The suspect was arrested in Canton after police obtained "substantial evidence," against Burrell.

"A Northville Hospital patient found something in a field and Canton police were notified. We conducted a surveillance of the scene and found a woman driving a blue Chevette, the same vehicle used in the White Castle robbery. After running a check, we found the car belonged to the same person," Bolgesic explained.

Burrell reportedly stole about $70 from the McDonald's and $8 from White Castle. No injuries occurred during either instance. Only a handle of a weapon was visible, according to one of the victims.

Inkster and Livonia police are also seeking warrants against Burrell for the armed robbery of a Church's Fried Chicken on Michigan Avenue in Inkster and another business in Livonia.

MacDonald scheduled a preliminary examination for 10:30 a.m., Dec. 21 in 35th District Court. Bond for Burrell was set at $200,000 for each of the two counts and he will not be allowed to post the usual 10 percent.

"He does not have good ties with the community. And he threatened to shoot one victim," cited Canton Detective Chuck Raycraft as reasons for the high bond.

"This is a felony offense punishable up to life imprisonment," said MacDonald. The felony firearm charge requires a mandatory two years in prison.

As Burrell stood before MacDonald, he told the court, "I already admitted my guilt."

Right to know law has local official asking lots of questions

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Margaret Leduc wants to know a few things about Romulus.

Not that she's being nosy, but as director for the city department of emergency management, recent federal law dictates that communities obtain specific information about local businesses. So her questions are just part of her job.

Specifically, the Right-to-Know law makes communities responsible for knowing which chemicals are used by local businesses.

The law requires these communities to establish a committee and monitor this information. The local committee consists of 14 members including, Mayor Beverly McAnally, Police Chief Charles Wilmoth, Fire Chief William Greenslaid, School Superintendent William Bedell, local railroad representative Gary Brannock and business representatives from Oakite and Chevrolet-Pontiac-Canada as well as many others.

The next committee meeting has been scheduled for Feb. 16, 1987. At that time, members will review the information gathered by Leduc during the past year.

It helps communities know how to respond. As more and more fires are explosive, local emergency personnel have the responsibility of knowing what chemicals to use in fighting a fire. You can't always use water. Some fires require dry chemicals.

— Margaret Leduc

A majority of local businesses completed a detailed survey earlier this year outlining information about what chemicals are used and where they are stored.

"In case of fire or any major disaster, Romulus police and fire departments will know exactly what steps to take in a particular situation. And emergency routes would be planned," said Leduc.

The State Department of Emergency Management works closely with local governments regarding the Right-to-Know laws, according to Leduc.

"It helps communities know how to respond. As more and more fires are explosive, local emergency personnel have the responsibility of knowing what chemicals to use in fighting a fire. You can't always use water. Some fires require dry chemicals," she added.

Leduc hopes to have this information computerized next year. The city is currently accepting bids on a new computer.

She cites the airport, railroads and expressways as fixed facilities with "the potential for disaster."

"The law requires we identify the equipment used in an emergency situations. The underlying factor is safety for emergency personnel. Many fire and policemen have been injured by chemicals while fighting local fires. We want to know how to respond. We're looking at all the issues," Leduc said.

ACTIVITY AT ROMULUS City Hall didn't shut down during the three weeks Francis Zilka vacationed in Florida. Last week, she returned from her annual visit with her older sister in Clearwater to her post as switchboard operator in Romulus City Hall. Zilka has been the familiar face behind the information desk for the past five years. Naturally, she said she had a wonderful time and even admits to sporting a slight tan. "We visited Epcot Center for the first time. It was so interesting with so many things to see. But we really did a lot walking and I'm tired. I'm kinda' glad to be back," she said.

THE YOUTH ADVISORY Council is looking for council members. The Romulus Youth Assistance Program began more than a year ago and "has proven to be very successful in helping youth who have shown to be demonstrating negative behavioral patterns," said officials of the program. The action council recommends and advises the program. Interested persons may call Debbie Dick, director of the Recreation Department at 942-6852.

THE SENIOR CENTER Pot Luck has been scheduled for 5 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 22 in the Romulus Recreation Department Building on Bibbins at the corner of Shook Road. For information call 942-6852.

ROMULUS RESIDENT MELANIE Sundquist, 14, of Washington Street worked hard this past quarter in her first year at as a ninth grader at Romulus High School. Her straight A marks not only earned her a place on the school honor roll but on the principal's honor roll as well. She was also selected as a student of the month.

THE CITY OF Romulus will host the annual City, Business and Industry Christmas Party from 4 to 8 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 17 at the Romulus Holiday Inn on Wickham Road, just north of the airport. The event, "Celebrating the Holiday Season and Sharing our Achievements," is sponsored by the city of Romulus, the Economic Development Corporation, Chamber of Commerce and the Festival Committee. Hitchhiker abandons freeway driver

A Westland resident reported that a hitchhiker stole his car and abandoned him in Romulus last Wednesday, according to police reports.

The victim, 25, called Romulus police from the Hilton Hotel on Wickham Road near Merri-man about 7:45 a.m. Dec. 9.

"The victim said about 3:30 a.m. he picked up a hitchhiker along the I-275 freeway near Ann Arbor Road. The suspect entered the car and implied he had a weapon. He instructed the victim to drive toward the airport and near eastbound I-94 and Merriman, he was told to pull over and get out," police reported.

When the victim attempted to exit, the suspect "hit him over the head with a an undetermined object. The victim was stunned but did not require immediate medical attention.

The suspect is described as a dark-complected, black male in his late 20s with a broad nose and clean shave. When last seen he was driving the suspect's 1985 Pontiac toward Detroit. The car was recovered later that day in Inkster. Police are still investigating the incident.

Bomb threat thwarted

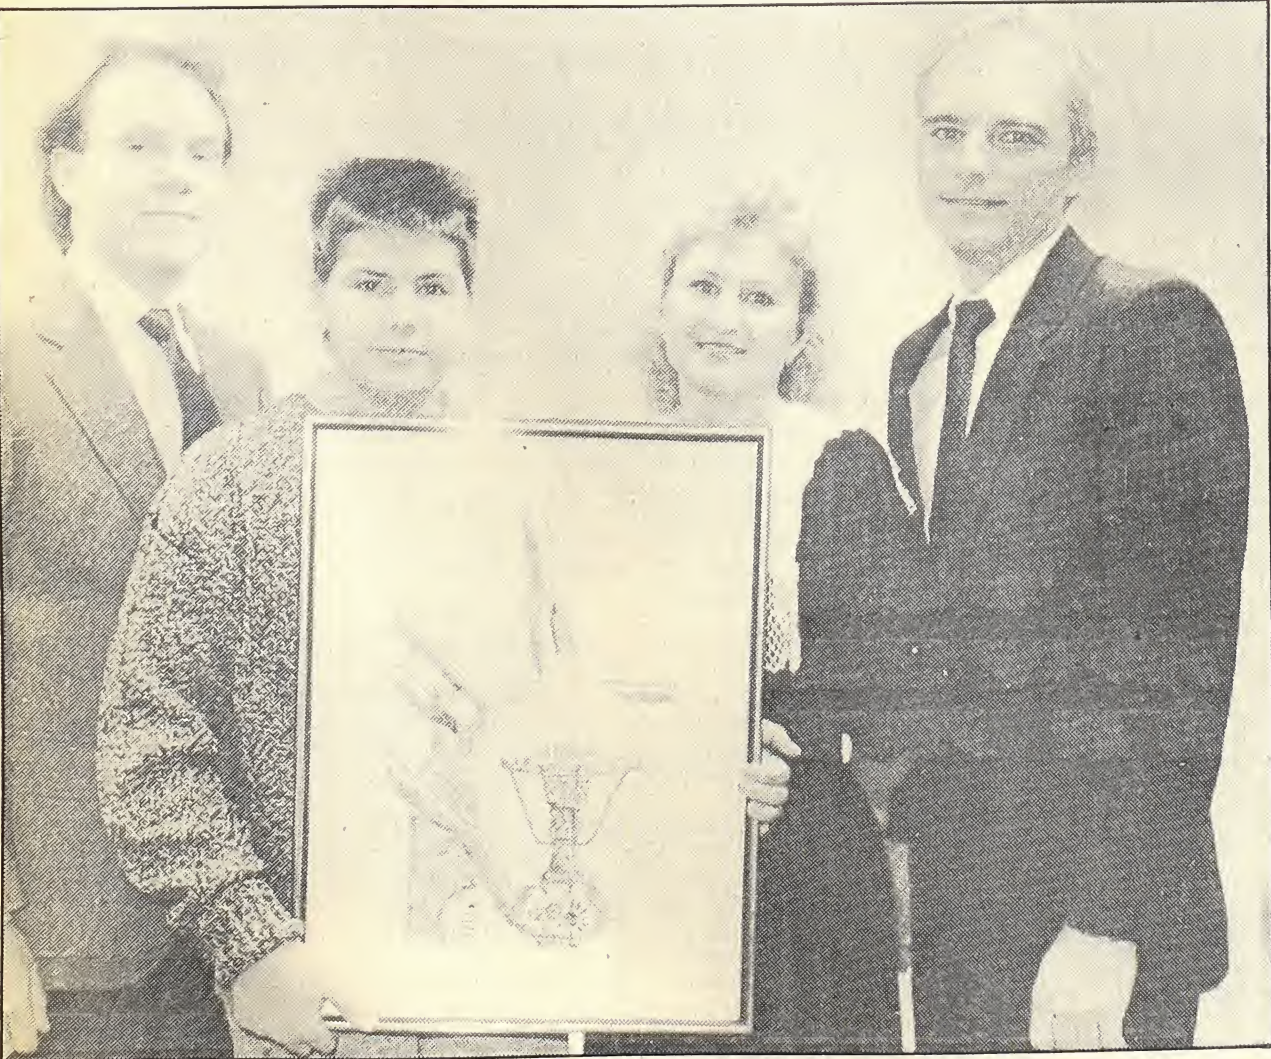

A truant student was arrested by local police after he allegedly telephoned a bomb threat into Romulus High School last week.

Romulus police reported the high school received a bomb threat about 12:35 p.m. on Friday. They located the suspect using trace equipment and arrested the individual before 5 p.m.

The young man will be petitioned to juvenile courts and if determined an adult, could be fined up to $500 or imprisoned for up to 90 days, according to police.

"It's very unusual we would ever catch somebody making a bomb threat. This is the second one in two months. It's not uncommon to receive one bomb threat a month," commented a youth officer with the Romulus Police Department.

"It is very unusual to apprehend someone," he added.

A good local mix

The art in the workplace project sponsored by members of the Romulus Arts Council continues for the second month and local businesses are pleased with the results, according to member John Percy, left. The program rotates a different student's work of art for display in a local business. This month, the halls of Lear Siegler, Inc. will be graced with this sketch by local artist, Gary Hardt, holding picture. Patti Delapaz and Mike Balser of Lear Siegler, Inc. said public response is positive. 3 local teachers receive grants

Students to reap benefits

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

More great things will be happening at Romulus schools next semester thanks to the Michigan State Board of Education and three mini-grants awarded to local teachers.

Dr. Terrel LeCesne, Romulus assistant superintendent, of schools, announced that three teachers received mini-grants to fund selected "innovative instructional programs" next semester.

The awards were granted to Gail Coleman, who heads the Romulus High School department of home economics, health, physical education and foreign languages, Phyllis Cebula, high school home economics teacher and Laura Shannon, curriculum advisor for the reading department at Beacon Day Treatment Center.

"The grant at the high school will fund speakers who will discuss crucial issues with students. And at Beacon, the authors of several youth novels will be invited during March, the designated month for reading in Michigan," LeCesne said.

He noted there were a total of 14 mini-grant applications submitted by Romulus teachers. The individual grant awards range from $250 to $500. Coleman and Cebula received a total of $450 and Shannon received $402.

And there will be no problem spending this money, according to the teachers involved. In fact, the programs are slated to begin in January.

"We applied for the grant because our reading program was so successful last year," Shannon said.

Several student-sponsored activities encouraged reading as part of the program. Two storytellers were invited, a poster contest was conducted, students earned gift certificates and bulletin boards throughout the building promoted reading, according to Shannon.

"These projects helped build students' self-esteem. It was important that they, too, see themselves as a reader. We conducted 'quiet reading time' each day when all students would break from their regular classes and read for 20 minutes to a half hour. This really helped ease their fear of reading," she said.

Other teachers involved in the project include Shelly Moore, education consultant, and Jaci Estes, Mary McGill and Linda VanLue who will coordinate the events.

At the high school, "We wanted to develop a program to discuss issues relevant to students," Cebula noted.

"We've contacted a number of speakers. The program will be promoted by the home economics department but all students will participate," added Jan Haynes, home economics teacher.

Cebula, Haynes and Coleman specifically explained the basis for the program is the dramatic rise of teen pregnancy, the increase of alcohol and drug use and the breakdown in the American family.

"Consequently, the American teenager feels isolated. Here at the high school, both staff and students want to address these issues. Students should be aware of these issues and develop skills to help them enjoy their teen years," stated the three teachers in a program summary called "Adolescent Life Series."

Each month a different theme will be emphasized from peer pressure during January, parental relationships in February, self-improvement in March, adolescent relationships in April and social awareness in May.

Specific activities might include speakers, movies, panel discussions, skits, a student-made video or contests. Special events include a dance, retreats, roller-skating, bowling, parties and a non-alcoholic drink competition.

"So important to the program is peer influence on other peers. Who knows better what they need than themselves," said Coleman.

"But you can't do anything without a supportive staff. Teachers here have to be creative," said Shannon.

Metro Airport bustles with holiday activity

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne County Airport officials promise few holiday delays this Christmas season in spite of several ongoing construction projects at Metro Airport in Romulus.

"All five major construction projects designated in Phase I of the $143 million airport expansion program were started in 1987. The expansion was announced in 1986. The final project was completed last Friday," said Mike Conway, county spokesperson.

The five construction projects include new and expanded holding pads at the end of the runways as well as a new side taxiway.

"All improvements are designed to make plane movement more efficient on the ground by reducing the amount of taxi time between runways and gates," said Conway.

Travelers into Metro Airport will also notice the smooth ride after county road crews resurfaced Rogell Drive, the main road into and out of the airport.

"We got rid of the potholes. Now people can ride through without their car rattling terribly," he said.

Most other improvements inside the airport have come to a standstill as county and airport officials decide the most beneficial expansion route.

"All terminal development projects are on hold until county and airport officials decide the best course of action," Conway said.

The original airport expansion plans were completed by Republic Airlines before the merger with Northwest Airlines. The effect on the current project is significant.

"All other expansion projects are being rethought. Northwest has a larger fleet mix than Republic and therefore, some changes are necessary. It'll be another few months before an agreement will be reached," Conway said.

Northwest Airlines completed the $9.5 million renovation and expansion of their baggage facility and the moving sidewalk. Scanners will read baggage tags and send them to the appropriate sections.

The Thanksgiving holiday saw no real problems, Conway said. And the Christmas season should be about the same. Conway encourages travelers to arrive about an hour early and call the parking hotline at 942-3838 for information about local parking.

"In fact, everything went so well, we never got on television. Traffic backed up a bit. But there were no massive towing of cars. Things went real smooth. And as long as people allow themselves extra time, there should be no problems," Conway said.

He noted that extra sheriff's patrols will be on duty to help with traffic. He emphasized that it's still not a good idea to leave cars unattended and double parked in front of the terminal buildings.

"When we mention numbers of cars towed, people think we're in the towing business," he added.

In other airport-related activity, Romulus residents can expect to hear from members of the Noise Task Force who have a January meeting planned.

The technical and advisory committees of the noise study currently being conducted by Wayne County met last week.

"We're progressing through the noise study. We're still developing information about how much and where noise is located. One of the next steps will develop what land uses are best surrounding the airport. We're making good progress. But we're a long way from over," he said.

'911' telephone plan ahead of schedule

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

Plans to implement the Enhanced 911 emergency telephone service to western Wayne County communities is ahead of schedule, according to a report issued by Joseph Benyo, who is coordinating the program for the 17-member Conference of Western Wayne.

"Our target date to implement the service is January of 1989, but we are far ahead of schedule and believe we can be in service before that time," Benyo said.

"It has taken a lot of preparation and cooperation from the member communities," Benyo said, "and Mayor Griffin (who is chairman of the CWW) and the CWW staff have stayed on top of the project. We are keeping the member communities informed about each step of the process, so there won't be any 'surprises' for them along the way."

Informational meetings for the member communities have been scheduled at 9 a.m. on the third Wednesday of each month through June, according to Benyo. Current meetings are assessing future needs and projected costs, he said. The goal of the CWW meetings is to aid each community to prepare its 1988-89 budget for the proposed service.

Benyo said all of the member communities now have a master street guide which was provided by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. Each community will go through the list and identify any new addresses which have been added and submit those to Michigan Bell, he said. The guide addresses and additions will then be placed into the computer to prepare for the initiation of the new emergency service.

According to Benyo, a trade show has been slated for early 1988 to enable vendors to display their equipment for consideration by the CWW member communities.

Conference discusses end to wetland woes

Five recommendations to the state Department of Natural Resources have been compiled by the Wetlands Task Force of the Conference of Western Wayne.

The task force was organized earlier this year to recommend changes in the controversial Wetlands Act which CWW members blame for a negative impact on economic growth in the area.

A major proposed project in Van Buren Township has been halted because the site has been labeled a wetland. Another project in Wayne was in jeopardy until an alternative wetlands site was named in Romulus to make up for the protected land at the Wayne site.

Van Buren Township Supervisor Lynne Hamilton, who also serves as CWW treasurer, said the action of the membership should not be interpreted as anti-environmentalist. Hamilton said he and other CWW members supported the protection of "true wetlands," but the current controversies revolve around land which many believe is not in keeping with the spirit and intent of the original legislation.

According to CWW Executive Director Ann Bollin, the wetlands controversy has been the subject of concern for the membership and has prompted numerous special meetings and workshops. The task force was formed as a result of that concern, she said, and the recommendations made by them were carefully studied and compiled.

On Friday, the 17-member CWW approved the five recommendations of the task force. These included a plan to obtain a copy of the wetlands inventory maps upon completion, to subscribe to a DNR bi-weekly report to update members on new applications and mitigations and to become advised of pending legislation as it relates to the Wetlands Protection Act and, subsequently, determine a CWW position on it.

The CWW also would like a definite time table for the drafting of DNR administrative rules — an unclear interpretation of rules has resulted in misunderstandings between the administration, staff and communities involved in wetland disputes. The recommendations also ask for a clearer definition of wetlands and a grade classification of them.

The task force also recommended that the CWW meet with state and county representatives to determine the grade of type of wetlands which should be protected in Michigan and Wayne County.

'Pet projects'

Local lawmakers monitor status of bills

By JANICE FRITZ
ANP Staff Writer

As state legislators in Lansing work to wrap up the session before the holiday break, two local lawmakers anxiously watch their own "pet projects" (bills they have introduced) become closer to a reality.

Rep. Justine Barns (D-Westland) received an early Christmas present last week, after watching a forfeiture bill she first introduced in the state House three years ago pass unanimously.

The bill, which died on the floor the first time it was introduced, calls for a civil forfeiture proceeding for all properties traceable to the commission of a designated felony.

Barns said she introduced the bill to "take the profit out of crime." Currently, there is an amendment which includes specifications for profits stemming from narcotic-related crimes or for "chop-shops," auto theft operations which involve the stripping of car parts and later sale of the parts for profit.

But, Barns said, profits made from child pornography and many other serious crimes are not included in the amendment.

In the bill, all profits from the crimes would be confiscated

BARNs: Taking profit out of crime and be split between police agencies and a "crime victims" fund. The police agencies would receive 75 percent of all monies, the crime fund 25 percent.

Barns said if people know beforehand that they won't be making any profit from crime, they won't want to break the law.

After the bill died on the first introduction to the state House, Barns said it was returned as a part of a crime package. The crime-package is still pending in Lansing.

Barns' portion of the package — the forfeiture proposal — was voted on last week. All representatives present voted in favor of passing the bill.

GEAKE: Wants tougher laws on sale of drugs

Barns was pleased about the news.

"This is a major step in fighting crime. I felt a great need for this bill to be passed, and I think this fits into the scheme of the crime package. This was a very necessary and progressive step," Barns said.

The bill now heads to the Senate, where it is expected to remain until after the holiday break.

ANOTHER LOCAL LAWMAKER, Sen. Robert Geake (R-Plymouth) has been concentrating on the "triplicate prescription" bill. Geake's proposal would amend the public health code to require the use of triplicate prescription forms for the dispensing of certain controlled substances and to increase the license fees for people licensed to prescribe the controlled substances.

Geake said it was necessary to begin a tough war against the increasing incidences of the diversion of prescription drugs to the black market.

"Michigan has one of the highest incidences of prescription drug diversions into the black market. With the passage of this bill, we would be able to trace the prescription drugs after the drugs leave the manufacturers," Geake explained.

The bill would target only "schedule II" drugs, Geake said, which are the drugs said to be more addicting. Schedule II drugs include Preludin, Ritalin, Dilaudid, Demarol, Codeine and penobarbital.

"Most of these drugs are narcotics. But some are also depressants and stimulants," said Geake.

The bill has been passed by members of the state House and is pending in the Senate. Geake was unsure when state senators would take action on the proposal.

local news in brief

Local lawmaker wants stiff tampering penalty

LANSING — State Rep. Gerald Law (R-Plymouth) is sponsoring a bill in the state Legislature that he hopes will prevent a Michigan episode of the Chicago Tylenol poisoning a few years ago. Law's proposal will add stiffer penalties to the state laws dealing with adulterating food, drink, over-the-counter medicine and water.

Current law establishes a felony, punishable by life imprisonment, if a person adds poison to food or medicine with the intent to kill or injure. Law's bill would add an additional penalty of up to five years imprisonment when a person places poison in food, drink, nonprescription medicine or a water supply knowing that it might injure someone.

"This situation has become a serious problem," Law said. "People have to be able to rely on the safety of products they buy for their family. There must be stronger deterrents for the 'sickos,' considering such a step and stronger penalties for the lunatics who actually take it."

The legislation, which passed unanimously in the house, also makes it a felony and up to two years imprisonment to tell people that food, water or medicine has been poisoned when it actually has not.

The bill is now before the state Senate.

Nativity scene dispute ignites in Westland

WESTLAND — "Peace on Earth" may be a common greeting these days, but the legal scene will be anything but peaceful for Westland city officials, who were last week threatened with a lawsuit from the American Civil Liberties Union for the nativity scene displayed on the lawn of city hall.

City Attorney Charles Bokos said the ACLU has been disputing the constitutionality of displaying a nativity scene on city property for several years and this year decided to target the city of Westland.

"This has been an annual beef with the ACLU at this time of the year. But this year, they've decided to center in on (the cities of) Westland and Clawson," said Bokos. "They have the impression that the municipality is sanctioning religion. But that is not our intent."

The U.S. Supreme Court in November 1986 supported the ACLU and ruled that governments may not display religious artifacts on public property. Therefore, Westland officials intend to sell the creche and land on which it is displayed to a nonprofit organization so that the scene can remain.

"I don't understand what made (the ACLU) bring all of this about now. We've been displaying that same nativity scene in this city for 21 years. In the 12 years that I have personally been involved in city government, I have only heard of one complaint about the scene, which was more than five years ago," said Westland Mayor Charles Griffin.

Students participate in explorer program

WAYNE — Youths from six area high schools — Wayne Memorial, John Glenn, Plymouth-Canton, Divine Child, Romulus and Inkster — are participating in the Annapolis Hospital Career Exploring program. The Boy Scouts of America Explorer Post 1877 presents students with information about careers in health care.

A group of 52 students meet every other week until March. The actual hands-on experience in 12 departments at the hospital provides the youths a working knowledge of the health profession, according to post leaders.

Leaders for the post include William Sherman, assistant administrator; Karen Cooney, R.N., post coordinator; Patty Jones, R.N., advisor; and Alan Bilinski, exploring executive.

Home for the holidays

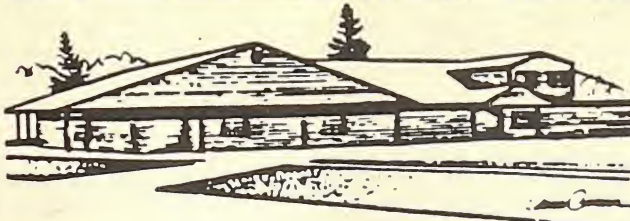

Houses decorated with Christmas cheer

Area homes are changing by day this week — changing, that is, to reflect a more holiday-oriented theme. Residents report many reasons for decorating their homes, but the bottom line, generally, is one that inspires and promotes the spirit of the season. At the top left, a reindeer fashioned out of logs and a tennis ball sits on the lawn of the Hartford residence on Huron River Drive, Romulus, while live greenery and the household dog (far left) provide the perfect touches to the 125-year-old Francisco home on Wayne Road at Michigan Avenue in Wayne. At the left (top photo), the evergreen at Sarah Shults house on Niagara Street, Wayne, is decorated each year by Sarah in memory of her husband. He planted the tree in 1972 but died before being able to decorate it for Christmas. In the middle photo, the Atchinson house on Huron River Drive, Romulus, is adorned with greenery and bells, and (bottom photo) the Monaco house on Chestnut Street, Wayne, is perfect with some red ribbon and bows. Preserve those film memories using video

By JOE BURNETTE
ANP Special Writer

Looking through old photographs and 8 mm movies around the holidays is as much a tradition in many families as having a Christmas tree. There is a special feeling of nostalgia when pulling the boxes or albums of photos and 8 mm movies out of the attic and taking a trip down memory lane.

Each year, the risk of these precious pictures, slides and 8 mm movies becoming damaged and lost forever increases. Damage can occur from improper storage, children playing with them or by water or fire damage from a household disaster.

Mitchell Karmann, owner of Movies and More at 5948 Sheldon, Canton, said this all can be avoided by utilizing video technology to preserve the movies,

video viewpoints

slides or pictures. Karmann has been in the television and video business for more than 10 years and has watched this process develop from exclusive use by movie and television studios. He said that a few years ago the cost would have made it impossible for the general public to take advantage of video.

But not any more. The cost for the transfer process from film to videotape varies. Karmann said an average cost for transferring 1,600 to 1,800 feet of 8 mm film to a two-hour VHS tape would be about $130 to $150.

If it is slides of pictures that are being transferred, the results can be outstanding, he continued. Some companies use special effects to enhance the filming. These can include fade-ins, double exposure or overlapping techniques to give the film a professional look.

Karmann recommended having music added to help set a mood, especially if you plan to transfer pictures or slides. The videotape can be timed to appear synchronized with the music.

Most companies will add music at no charge, and you can pick the songs you like. In some cases, the company may ask you to provide the selections you want on tape.

Ask the company in advance if a fee is charged for special effects or music. Most importantly, ask if a fee is charged for editing. If the film is old, a lubrication process can be used. Some sections of the film may be damaged and require editing.

You can make the film more personal by adding titles to name the film and list the performers or announce scenes like the old silent films.

Karmann advised planning in advance what you expect from the final product and writing it down. This, he said, will help the company give you a product you can enjoy for years.

A final word of advice from Karmann is to be sure to have a copy or two of the final product to use as gifts or to keep in the safe deposit box.

The memories for years ahead will be well worth the effort!

Video viewpoints appears every other week in the Associated Newspapers. Karmann, cited in this column, is the owner of Movies and More at 5948 N. Sheldon, Canton. He can be contacted by phoning 455-1300.

Dog is a 'problem'? Trainer has answers

We make ourselves available to answer questions and help dog owners as much as possible. When someone calls us with a dog problem they are desperate and hope for an instant solution by phone.

Sometimes, if the particular dog problem is a minor one, we are able to give helpful answers or corrective measures by phone. But what is generally the case is that the person phoning us has waited until the dog is 6 months old or older, has a multitude of serious behavioral problems, and the owner wants a sure-fire solution (only one, preferably) to automatically correct a serious situation. This is not possible! Let me give you an example of what we're up against in our trying to help as much as possible:

Phone rings:
"Dan Morris Dog Training. This is Dan Morris, may I help you?"

Caller: "Is this Dan Morris Training?"

Dan: "Yes, this is Dan. May I help you?"

Caller: "I've got a problem with my dog."

Dan: "What seems to be the problem?"

Caller: "I told you! This dog of ours is the problem."

Dan: "Yes, I heard you the first time. What exactly is the problem you're having with your dog?"

Caller: "He growls at me. And after all I've done for him. He sits there, staring at me and growls. I'm scared to go near him now. What's wrong with him?"

Dan: "You must get the dog into training and I mean now, not another week from now."

Caller: "Can't I just do something here, like scold him or something?"

Dan: "You're asking me to solve a problem that developed over a two-year period and do it over the phone yet!"

Caller: "So you can't tell me what to do! I don't know what to do! Isn't there one or two things I can do to fix this dog?"

Dan: "You're asking for some magic answer or cure all with one phone call and with my never even seeing the dog. Doctors don't form opinions and diagnose over the phone and neither will I. All I can say is to get your dog trained."

Caller: "Maybe another school can help."

Dan: "Maybe so. Call around."

So you see, it is not always possible to help every single caller.

We do try our best to help people with problems if at all possible. One thing is required of anyone owning a dog and that is to be a responsible dog owner. By this I mean to educate the dog so it is not a threat to any person's safety and not a liability to the owner.

All it takes for you to appear in court is one dog bite, one person knocked down by your dog, one bit of damage to a neighbor's property. Suddenly obedience training doesn't seem so expensive or time-consuming at all.

S.M. SGT. ROY JAKEWAY is living the realization of a lifelong dream. The Taylor resident saw his wishes fulfilled when his son, S. Sgt. Robert M. Jakeway, of Romulus, joined the 63rd Tactical Airlift Squadron as a flight engineer. S.M. Sgt. Jakeway, a C-130 flight engineer standards evaluator, will now be able to work side by side with his son in the Air Force Reserve. The 63rd TAS is the flying squadron for the 927th Tactical Airlift Group, which flies the Hercules C-130 transport aircraft on worldwide supply missions for the U.S. Air Force Military Aircraft Command. The 927th TAB is a reserve unit headquartered at Selfridge Air National Guard Base. Both men enjoy working together. And even though they cannot fly together on the same aircraft due to military regulations, they do share flying stories. S.M. Sgt. Jakeway is employed by the Federal Aviation Administration, and S. Sgt. Jakeway is employed by Zantop International Airlines.

GLEN E. KOERBER, of Walnut Drive in Romulus, was among 90 Masons from 11 southeastern Michigan counties who received the Scottish Rite Freemasonry 32nd degree at the final session of the 303rd reunion at the Masonic Temple last month. The gathering was designated the "Bicentennial Reunion" in honor of the 200th anniversary of the United States Constitution.

BELLEVILLE RESIDENT HOLLY Finch has been appointed to the position of assistant teacher in the children's center at Eastern Michigan University. This appointment was among several appointments, promotions and retirements announced earlier this month by the Eastern Michigan University Board of Regents.

MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY announced the names of the 1,759-member graduating class last week. Kenneth H. Bird, of Hannan Road in Romulus, was the recipient of a bachelor of science degree in the field of electrical engineering.

PAUL S. NIEDERMEYER, the son of Richard and Jeanne Niedermeyer of Castle Drive in Romulus, has earned his first varsity letter in golf this season. Officials from Olivet College, where Niedermeyer is a freshman, made the announcement last week. Niedermeyer, a 1987 graduate of Romulus High School is majoring in biology, history and psychology.

CHRIS PENNINGTON, THE son of Larry and Suzann Pennington of Stewart Drive in Romulus, has been included in the 1988 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Pennington, a senior majoring in computer science at Messiah College in Grantham, Pa., was selected for the honor based on his academic achievement, service to the community, leadership in extracurricular activities and potential for continued success.

Creche scene suit handled with care

It was a class act, no doubt. Westland city officials could have become belligerent. They could have fired back a barrage of angry words. They could have even been defiant.

But they handled the situation with an extreme degree of care — and style.

We speak of how city administrators reacted to a threatened lawsuit last week by the American Civil Liberties Union for a nativity scene displayed on the lawn of the Westland City Hall. Attorneys for the ACLU, in a surprise move, targeted the city creche scene in their ongoing effort to ban the display of city-owned Christian Christmas scenes on government property.

The nativity scene in front of the Westland City Hall

The threat of a lawsuit is nothing new for the ACLU. In years past, the city of Dearborn has been a target, and this year, both the cities of Westland and Clawson will receive the dubious honor. ACLU attorneys contend that municipalities breach the separation of church and state outlined in the Constitution when a secular scene is displayed on public property.

The U.S. Supreme Court apparently agreed on that point in November 1986 when the High Court ruled that governmental display of religious artifacts was unconstitutional. Before the decision, attorneys and lower court judges battled endlessly on whether or not the nativity scenes commonly found on the lawns of city halls throughout the country would have to be removed.

The Supreme Court decision, the ACLU attorneys contend, ends that battle once and for all.

Westland officials — in a calm and even-tempered fashion — announced last week that they would honor the Supreme Court decision to the letter. Westland Mayor Charles Griffin said he would “never deliberately violate the laws of the Supreme Court.” In the same breath, however, the mayor explained that the creche was not coming down. Not yet.

As in the Dearborn lawsuit, city officials in Westland have found a way to follow the law of the land, while keeping the nativity scene at city hall. Griffin said the city will sell the scene and the land on which it now rests to a nonprofit organization so that the scene may be displayed without being indirectly sanctioned by the city government.

That idea is one to be commended, as it is an idea that allows church and state to co-exist within the city. It is this co-existence, we believe, that was sought when our founding fathers framed the separation clause in the Constitution.

Separation of church and state is a major reason for the success of this country. In this column, we have repeatedly supported strict adherence to this belief. However, we also feel that the phrase is separation of church and state and not elimination of one or the other.

Still, ACLU attorneys disagree and vow to continue their battle until all creche scenes are removed from the lawns of city halls. These attorneys contend that even selling the land and nativity scene to a nonprofit organization is outside of the intentions of the Supreme Court decision.

Nevertheless, we believe Westland city officials have been exemplary in their method of handling the ACLU lawsuit. Their method for solving the problem is an insightful one, and their mild manner in commenting on the suit shows a sense of dignity and style in what is a very sensitive issue.

It is this style of governmental leadership and careful planning, we feel, that will bring a positive judgment for the city in the end.

One of the funny things about Christmas shopping is that there is very little about it that's funny. Those of you who can relate to the terms “turbo charging” and “power shopping” can no doubt understand my lack of humor in this matter.

Shopping for gifts for those you hold dear somehow should be a joyful experience. Instead it seems to have become a marathon event, one which might merit consideration as a part of the winter Olympics. The participants could battle, perhaps to the death, for the best bargain, closest parking spot, or the clerk's attention.

In case you are not among those who think this event has serious Olympic potential, consider the athletic skills required by championship-class Christmas shoppers.

First, one must have the driving skills of A. J. Foyt during the Indianapolis 500. Merging from a side street into most any throughfare requires driving ability not unlike that necessary to pilot a low-slung racing machine out of the pits.

Visualize the unannounced lane changes, power plays to overtake all other contenders and the fender riding between competing drivers, then tell me we don't have a world-class competitive event.

Once you have finished the road race, climaxing with the speed hunt and search in the mall lot, we enter the cross-country sprint.

Understand that there is an invariable ratio between the weight of packages to be carried and the distance from the door the car is parked. Obviously, the heavier and more plentiful the gifts found and purchased, the further away the car will be.

We would, of course, give added points for transcending multiple mall levels, seeking the same gift in more than one chain store, and finding-sale prices, IF the items are on your shopping list. No bonus points for buying sale items if you had not intended to purchase them before the start of competition.

In the weight lifting competition, the bronze medal should go to the winner of the multiple package division. The shopper who can carry the most packages accumulatively, without making a trip to the car trunk should take home the prize—if he or she has enough strength left to carry it.

In the turbo charging triathlon, one must have at least three major credit cards, plus assorted merchant accounts (Hudson's, Lord and Taylor, Sears, etc.) in order to enter. At the end of competition on Christmas Day, contenders must have reached the maximum credit limit on all accounts for the silver medal. Bonus points are given for exceeding credit limits.

Now here's the big one. If you can match up shopping for at least eight people, family or friends, start late in the season, be economically depressed when your start, shop in inclement weather, travel as far from home as possible, find rude clerks, pay normal retail prices, no sales, you may take home the gold medallion.

All this reminds me somehow of Arnold Schwarzenegger in the futuristic competition in the movie “Running Man”. In the movie, old Arn competes in a life-threatening competition to traverse an obstacle course, overcoming all enemies, in an attempt to finish alive.

In Olympic Shopping, one should obviously lose points for shopping conveniently with home-town merchants where one can drive up and park just outside the front door. No, no...none of that.

One should also get demerits for finding sale prices on needed items by looking in the local weekly newspaper. Requirements of this event would stipulate that competitors dig through piles of multi-color inserts out-of-town newspapers or direct mailers for wanted items.

Demerits would also be awarded if the advertising publication, mailer, or merchant is a member of the local chamber of commerce or supports the community in any way. Hey, it's a dog-eat-dog world. I'm sorry, But in Christmas Shopping Olympics you take no prisoners.

If you are going to win in this game of Christian love, and giving in remembrance of the birth of our savior Jesus Christ, you have got to be ruthless.

It's like I said, there's nothing funny about this game. So why not contribute money to the campaign to initiate this as a certified athletic event?

Because the money could be far better spent with a local church or charity. That's why. I urge you to take just a small portion of what you plan to spend this year and make a contribution for the benefit of those without the wherewithal to compete in this annual holiday orgy.

I guarantee, it will be the best gift you find throughout the whole year, and someone else will do all the purchasing and wrapping.

Please, this holiday do something truly special for your fellow man and share the real spirit of the season with a small gift. That will make you a real champion in any competition.

In the meantime, let's get in training for next year. Excuse me now, but I have to get out of here before the stores close.

See you next week.

Many contribute to holiday success

To The Editor:

We at the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce would like to take this opportunity to thank the officials and dignitaries, city and township police and fire departments, clubs and organizations, churches and schools, participants and spectators who helped to make the 1987 Christmas program and parade a success.

A big thanks to our chamber members for their assistance. So many volunteers in the community assisted by working, planning, donating and the special news releases helped to get these plans to the public.

We especially thank the visitor from the North Pole, Santa Claus and his Christmas Carols — they made the event a very special one for the children.

We sincerely thank everyone who in any way helped to make this Christmas program such a great success, and you can be assured that your help and participation is truly appreciated.

Board member clarifies article

To The Editor:

In an article in the Nov. 25, 1987, issue of the Inkster Ledger-Star, an overview of a meeting of the Westwood Community School District Board of Education was given. As a trustee of the Board, I must respond because, on two points, the onus of the problems on the board appears to be placed on the shoulders of the majority of the members, which places us in an unfair position of being instigators of the contention which exists on the board.

“Instead of using their valuable time to help further the cause of education, this board is busy plotting strategy on how to seek and destroy.”

This just simply is not the case. The majority of us are too busy trying to bring meaningful education and programs into the district. It is unfortunate and frustrating that we have one member who is marching to a different drummer and whose sole ambition is to destroy Westwood so that her area, McIntosh Acres, can send their children to the Crestwood School District.

In my opinion, this member's actions are not only racial, they are also guilty of trying to create a “caste” system against the “poor whites” south of Michigan Avenue.

“That this Board is wasting taxpayers money and time with their petty bickering.”

The majority of the board is concerned with the excessive amount of time being wasted by the tirades of one board member. The personal attacks generated by her is an attempt to stymie the actions of the board and to try to place us in an unfavorable light in the community. The future of all our students is at stake.

We do not intend for one dissident faction to bring negative, disruptive tactics to fruition against our kids or employees. With all the deadly forces aligned against children in this society, our very best is not enough to protect our children. We cannot afford to waste our energies on a person who is more interested in property values rather than on the well being of a child.

In my opinion, a case of malfeasance and misfeasance in office can also be presented because the $400 fee mentioned in the article was initiated because of misuse of power in obtaining excessive information for a community member, who, when she learned of the cost of researching the material, withdrew the request and had the board member attain it for her. This was clearly a case of the performance of a lawful action in an illegal or improper manner and is misconduct especially by a public official.

The above statements are solely my opinion and do not necessarily reflect the thoughts of other board members.

Business

open for business

A GRAND OPENING celebration is set for Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 19 and 20 to mark the start of a new business venture for Inkster residents Larry Hearn and Arthur Fredrick. The two are the new owners of Joyful Sounds, Inc., a music store which will also feature church supplies, Bibles, religious books and other gift accessories. The store is located at 3865 Inkster Road, Inkster. WCHB radio station will broadcast live during the grand opening from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, and an autographing session will be staged from 1 to 3 p.m. An invitation-only ribbon cutting is set from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday. A brunch will be served. Call 565-8872 for more information about the new business.

THE GOOD NEWS Auto Network is the newest business in downtown Wayne, located at 35540 W. Michigan Ave., in the Associated Newspapers building. The office is open Monday through Friday to offer car buyers a quiet, relaxed atmosphere to purchase. The company delivers the car exactly as ordered at a wholesale price. State-licensed and bonded, the company specializes in the sale of all new domestic and imported cars at wholesale prices. Paying retail can be costly, according to the company president, Ervin Dixon. Buying wholesale can save the buyer about $2,000. For more information on how to take advantage of this new concept in car sales, call Dixon at 721-7760.

ARBOR DRUGS ANNOUNCED recently the opening of four new stores — one of which is located in Canton at 43301 Joy Road (at Morton Taylor). The new store will contain 10,920 square feet of space offering a full line of Arbor products and services, including more than 1,000 private label items — vitamins, health and beauty aids and over-the-counter products. The store will also feature a broad line of generic drugs, the Arbortech computerized pharmacy system, Picture-Picture and other Arbor merchandising features.

RECENT PROMOTIONS ANNOUNCED by Eastern Michigan University included area resident Pamela Sue Katz, of Westland, who was promoted from account clerk to accountant I by the EMU Board of Regents at the regular monthly meeting. Katz earned her bachelor's degree in accounting information systems from Eastern Michigan in 1987. Staff appointments announced by the Board of Regents included Holly Fitch, of Belleville, as assistant teacher in the children's center, and Jayner Hyer, of Westland, to supervisor in housing and food services. Among the staff promotions announced was Teri Papp, of Wayne, from administrative secretary to executive secretary in the vice president for university marketing and student affairs office.

Jewel of a price

Discount Jewelers cuts cost of gift giving

Jay Benjamin and Brad Smith want jewelry shoppers to visit every jeweler in the area before getting a price from them on the merchandise they want for Christmas. They figure they'll have a much happier customer who fully realizes the quality of the goods at an unbeatable price.

The men, each 31, became partners about a year and half ago after meeting at a jewelry exchange where Smith admitted, "He was my only real competition." Since joining forces and opening Discount Jewelers on Warren Road in Westland, the two have slowly begun to make a name for themselves with local buyers.

The pair are responsible for many of the jewelry designs being sold to well-heeled customers in Grosse Pointe and Birmingham this Christmas season. And while the two certainly don't mind the consignment work they receive from these shops, they'd like to offer their expertise to more buyers in this area — at a fraction of the price.

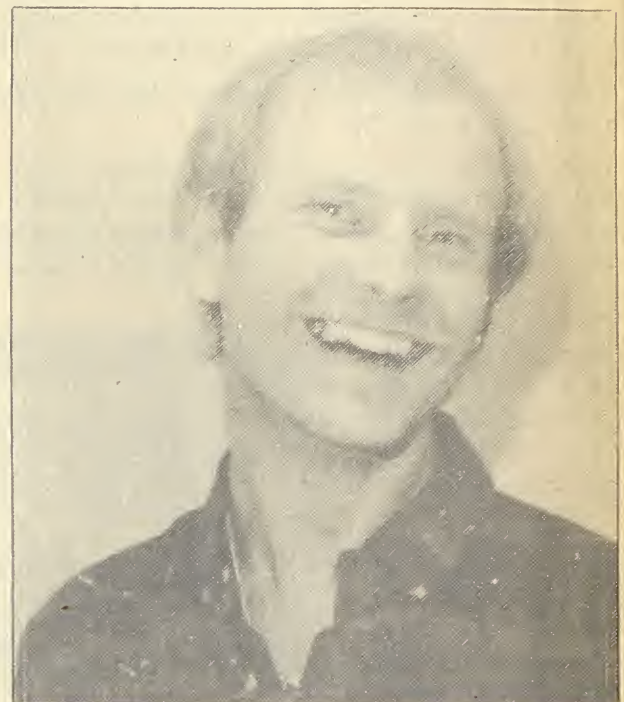

"We get more of these assignment letters than you can imagine. It's a joke now, that I can recite them by heart," Jay said. The reason for the success of the pair is, Benjamin freely admitted, the expertise of his partner.

"Brad is an artist. There is nobody like him. He's an expert at wax carving (the simulation of the jewelry prior to casting in gold and adding precious stones) and not many guys can do it. Very few jewelers do their own. They find Brad and have it done," Benjamin laughed.

Benjamin grew up in the jewelry business, and began his career at the ripe old age of 5 sweeping the floor at his parents' jewelry store. Benjamin's Wholesale Company in Detroit. He attended Southfield High School and the University of Michigan.

Smith, a self-taught artist, is a graduate of Lampeer High School and has earned the designation of Master Goldsmith, awarded to those with more than 10 years experience in the craft.

The men firmly believe that jewelry is usually overpriced, customers underserved and poorly treated and custom work less than satisfactory. They plan to take advantage, they agreed, of the low overhead of their new location, and hope to build a clientele of smart shoppers who want the best but know how much they should be paying for it.

"The guy with the high overhead has to pass that cost along to somebody. Who do you think it will be," Benjamin said.

"I hope everybody really shops around, and then comes in here," Smith said. "We really do have the best value."

And if you don't see what you want in their inventory, ask. Nothing will make the pair happier than to go through catalogues to find just what the customers want and execute the design, letter perfect in every detail, in a day or so. They even, with Smith's expertise, work from sketches provided by customers, Benjamin admitted.

And for those who need some expert help in finding that special jewelry gift, Benjamin has some advice. "Don't try to stretch your dollars too far. Buy something of weight and quality that will last. That's the important thing with jewelry, it should last."

Super service manager

No, Larry Puz (above) isn't showing off Oscars these days. The two golden awards he is displaying are far more important to him and his employer than those given to the stars of Hollywood. Puz, service department manager at Jack Demmer Ford, Wayne, was named the recipient of the fall 1987 MVP Service Star Award from the Ford Motor Co. The award has been given only twice, and Puz took home the honor for his Ford region — which consists of about 15 to 20 local auto dealerships and service department managers — both times. Ford officials give the award in the fall and in the spring to the service manager who has the best record of keeping customers at the dealership happy. The customer opinions are collected through an independent survey of all new car owners by the Ford Motor Co. Jack Demmer Ford, Puz said, has a 97-percent customer satisfaction rate, a considerable accomplishment by Ford standards. A Canton Township resident, Puz, 38, credits his success as a service manager to the 20 employees he manages.

Suburban LIVING Urban

Christmas then

Residents have fond memories

By JANICE FRITZ
ANP Staff Writer

Like Ebenezer Scrooge in Dickens' A Christmas Carol, each of us has a ghost of Christmas past. A part of our memory bank is set aside and filled with memories of the best Christmases of days gone by.

But some of these memories are particularly interesting. Here are two examples.

Ann Chowderly, a creative writing teacher for the Wayne-Westland adult education system, remembers what it was like to celebrate Christmas in her native England.

Chowderly lived with her parents and younger brother on a farm located between Chesterfield and Sheffield. She said the farm was situated in the middle of acres of vacant land, which she referred to as "the middle of no where."

"Where I lived, not many people put up Christmas trees. But I know that there were more of them in town. When I was very little, there wasn't a whole lot of Christmas decorating, since our country was still involved in World War II for the first four years of my life," said Chowderly.

Chowderly said that during the war years, children received very few toys, if any, and most toys given to kids were homemade.

"I can remember getting wooden wagons which were made from my father or my grandfather. And Mom always knitted articles of clothing for us. In fact, Mom taught me how to knit, as well, and I was making scarves and mittens for people as Christmas gifts when I was as young as 5 or 6 year old. Now that I look back, these were the gifts which meant the most to me," Chowderly said.

Most American customs are similar to those in England, Chowderly said. With a few exceptions.

"We had Santa Claus in England, too. But Santa would leave his toys in a pillowcase at the foot of our beds. I always remember my brother and I trying to stay awake all night, so that we could try and catch a glimpse of Santa. But usually, we would wind up fast asleep," Chowderly recalled.

For Chowderly and her brother, Christmas Eve was always a night of excitement. The worst part was trying to get to sleep. Because it was difficult to get to bed at an early hour, Chowderly said her parents had a successful way of getting the kids in bed.

"My grandmother went away and brought back a Swiss cow bell for my mother, which we've had in our family for years and years. On Christmas Eve, one of my parents or grandparents would sneak outside near the windows and ring that bell. They would tell us that Santa was giving us his warning. We thought that he was flying overhead and our parents would tell us that unless we got into bed right now, Santa wouldn't come back. And then, too, they would tell us that we had to be asleep when he came into our rooms. You can imagine how hard it is for kids who are excited to try and fall asleep," Chowderly continued.

But the childhood memories are not the only fond thoughts of the holiday season, Chowderly said. One Christmas 10 years is of particular interest, she said.

"In 1977, my husband and I were

Ann Chowderly

Memories: Which Christmas do you remember most?

Leah Morin

Morin, of Westland, remembers the excitement of preparing for Christmas years ago.

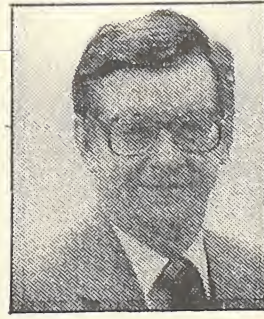

"Dear Mother started to make cookies and nutbread on the 23rd. She made wonderful Christmas dinner, cakes and pies and also cleaned the whole house before we went to midnight mass.

Cathy Horste

Each year, while Horste, of Van Buren Township, and her sister were growing up, special ornaments were hung on the Christmas tree for them.

"I don't remember getting the ornaments, but I do remember hanging them on the tree when I was a child," Horste said. "Recently we found two of the ornaments - a china dog and a tiny silver bell - and they are on my tree this year."

John Preniczky

Usually our family gets together for a big dinner. We exchange presents and have a good time. Both our families are rather large and we rotate who has dinner. This year, our sister-in-law is hosting dinner at her home in Windsor. This, I'm looking forward to.

Pat Carico

Carico, of Westland, enjoyed an old-fashioned Christmas.

"It was very nice when all the family got together. No plastic trees. You didn't have as many presents back then, but they meant more to us. My dad chopped down our own tree, and we made our own decorations."

Mary Talaga

Talaga, the wife of Belleville Councilman Anthony Talaga, has childhood memories of Christmas with "lots of love." Her special memories are of her parents and the six children breaking bread and wishing each other a "Merry Christmas and a Prosperous New Year."

Howard Kesner

Our family requires one thing at Christmas, that you believe in Santa Claus. Either that, or you don't receive any presents. This puts our kids ages 14, 12, 9 and 7 in an unusual position. The older ones can't admit they don't believe. They're careful not to spoil it for the younger kids.

Leanna Hicks

"I used to take the streetcars to downtown Detroit and shop at Hudson's. It was a beautiful time and place. The memories are so deep," said Hicks, of Inkster.

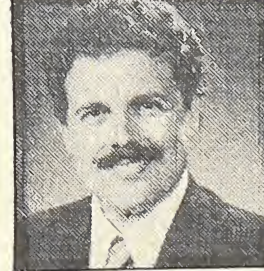

"I think it was a time we will never forget and, unfortunately, a time that will never come back.

Mark Chorbagan

Chorbagan, of Wayne, who spends a good part of the year as a member of the Wayne Festival Committee, wants a leather bomber jacket for Christmas.

"It's a brown leather jacket like the ones worn by World War II pilots," said Chorbagan.

Rev. J.D. Landis

One thing sticks out in my mind. My grandmother, who is still living at the age of 91, is a Pennsylvania Dutch Mennonite. She was a great cook and baked some incredible Christmas cookies. She also made an oyster filling that was out of this world.

Garnett Hegeman

"If I could step into a time machine and go back . . . society was so different. We didn't have to worry about our mothers, wife or daughters shopping and becoming victims of a crime. Back then, you didn't have to worry about locking your doors," said Hegeman, the superintendent of the Inkster Public Schools.

Margaret Killebrew

Killebrew, who is very active with the Boy Scouts association in Wayne, wants a mini-van for Christmas so she can take the Scouts on more trips. She also wouldn't mind an automatic pop corn popper or a vacuum cleaner.

Killebrew would settle for health in her family.

Roy Schultz

I do remember some happy times with our kids. They were the last kids to not believe in Santa Claus. I guess everything was so real to them. One time in particular, we were going to church. The car was in the garage and I rigged a string to some bells in the tree. As we left, I pulled the string and they thought it was Santa.

ANNIVERSARIES

Kehoe — 50th

A celebration was staged in honor of Clifford and Helen O. (Edwards) Kehoe, of Canton, to mark their 50th wedding anniversary. The two were married Nov. 28, 1937, in the home of the bride's parents in Fenton. Hosting the party at St. John's Episcopal Church in Westland were their daughter Karen, of Paris, France, and their son Charles, of St. Louis, Mo. The couple have lived in the community for 46 years and are members of the Avion Trailer Club. They have two grandchildren. Guests for the event came from around Wayne County, as well as Saginaw and Springfield, Mo. Floral arrangements were received from friends in Arizona and a niece in Paris.

"In 1977, my husband and I were living in Seattle, Wash., with our two children, who were then ages 7 and 9. That year, my husband had to relocate to Washington, D.C. As Christmas came closer, it became evident to us that we wouldn't be able to move out there in time for the holidays. So once the week of Christmas arrived, we were all pretty depressed," said Chowdery. "But, suddenly, my husband called and told me that somehow he managed to get here in time. But we didn't tell the kids. Instead, I picked him up at the airport, brought him home and, thanks to his cooperation, I got him to agree to let me wrap him up in a sheet so that he could pose as a present under the Christmas tree. I'll never forget the excited looks on my kids' faces as they realized that no, this wasn't an oversized dog under that tree but their dad, whom they thought would not be here to watch them open their presents. That was a very special Christmas for all of us," said Chowdery.

ANOTHER EXAMPLE . . . Longtime Belleville resident Edna Gregory remembers a Christmas, many years ago, in which a tragedy at a nearby house still remains in her mind. "I was probably not more than 6 or 7 years old, and my family was celebrating Christmas at my aunt's house in Hudson, Mich. It was really cold outside, and it had snowed earlier. A home near where my aunt lived caught fire and burned down to the ground. I recall hearing about how the only thing that was salvaged from the ruins was a diamond ring which was given to the woman of that house only that morning, for Christmas. I remember thinking about how awful that must have been for the people living in that home to have lost everything they had ever owned in a fire," recalled Gregory. One of the most memorable Christmas gifts that Gregory can conjure up is a giant doll. "This was the largest doll that I had ever seen. It was bigger than me, and I eventually wore that doll down to nothing. I loved her so much," said Gregory.

Gregory said the part about all of her past Christmases which she likes to recall the most is that all of them were filled with "love and good cheer."

Canton student earns $1,000 scholarship

Alanna D. Ratliff of Devonshire Drive in Canton Township was among thirteen University of Michigan freshmen who received Martin Luther King Scholarships this year from the U of M Alumni Association Reunion for Black Graduates. Although most of the scholarship recipients were born one or two years after the civil rights leader was assassinated, scholarship essays demonstrate a deep impression on their lives and their expectations, according to Robert B. Holmes, U-M assistant vice president for academic affairs. Each of the recipients was awarded $1,000.

Dotty Looney

Cake decorator turns hobby into business

When Dotty Looney walked into Ina's Cake and Candy Shop in Belleville five years ago to buy cake decorating supplies, a dream began to come true.

The sign announcing that the shop was for sale was all the encouragement the long-time cake decorator and candy maker had to see. She talked with her husband, Doyle, and became the new proprietor of Ina's without so much as changing the name.

Looney has educated literally hundreds of aspiring cake decorators during her 22 years of experience in the art. She considers herself self-taught, but recommends lessons for anyone else thinking of trying their hand at the skill.

"I was so shy, being in class with other people for me back then was just too hard. I guess I quit after just a few lessons," Looney recalled. "I'm pretty much self-taught."

Looney's children really prompted her career.

"I was really into children's parties for my kids and boy, everything had to be just so," Looney recalled. "I just wanted everything to be so special for them. Ordering the special cakes got to be expensive and I decided I could do the decorating myself," she said.

Her four children, sons 19 and 21 and daughters 24 and 26 are also proficient now at cake decorating--although Looney admits that while her daughters are true professionals at the task, her sons are merely, "very good at most things." She and her husband are now enjoying doing special cakes for their four grandchildren which Looney describes as a real joy.

"But every cake I do is special. I don't care what occasion it is for or who bought it--every one I do is really special to me," she said. Her husband, "a natural artist" helps her with very fine detail work on pictures on decorations, while she does the flowers and borders.

But cake decorating is not the limit of Looney's culinary skill. She was taught to cook by her older sister when she came here from the south during her teens. Her sister stressed the importance of being a good wife, a good mother and a good housekeeper--and none of that was possible without being a great cook.

"I remember she told me once, 'Dotty, no matter what else you ever do, you cook a good meal for your family every day.' It was just real important and that's the way I was raised," Looney said.

And the seasoned expert has some advice for younger cooks today. "Try different things. Don't be satisfied with the same old things. You may go through a dozen recipes and not like any of them. Keep trying," Looney said. "Don't give up."

Patience is the key to learning to decorate the type of fancy cakes that have made Looney famous. "It just isn't going to turn out right the first time, or the second time...it takes great patience," Looney said. Her other advice to decorators, especially those in her classes, is simple. "Don't lick your fingers. You can gain 20 pounds during the 10-week course."

Cake pans, decorating supplies and candy making supplies and molds are sold in the shop where the decorated cakes can be specially ordered. Looney will also prepare candies if specially ordered, and carries a large line of supplies for this culinary craft.

"I'm just real happy to be here, in Belleville. I've always wanted to live here and when I retire, I'm going to move here," Looney said.

Looney agreed to share some recipes, most of which have been published in a cookbook produced by the Women's Auxiliary of the Trinity Freewill Baptist Church in Ypsilanti where she is active.

SUNDAY SWISS STEAK

1/2 cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
6 slices round steak
1/2 cup thinly sliced onion rings
1/4 cup shortening
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
1 cup pizza sauce
1 cup water

Combine flour, salt and pepper. Pound into meat. Brown onions lightly in hot shortening in large skillet over medium heat. Remove onions. Brown meat. Place onions on top of meat. Add tomato and pizza sauce and water. Cover and simmer for 1 1/2 to 2 hours until tender. Makes six servings. (For Brown Swiss Steak omit pizza and tomato sauces and add 2 cans of brown gravy with mushrooms. Cook as directed.)

CHICKEN CHOW MEIN

1/4 cup oil
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 cups sliced Chinese cabbage
3 cups thinly sliced celery
1 can (1 pound) bean sprouts, drained

1 can (4 ounces) water chestnuts, sliced
2 teaspoons sugar
2 cups chicken broth or water
2 1/2 Tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 cup cold water
1/4 cup soy sauce
3 cups sliced cooked chicken, cut into slivers
Chow Mein noodles

Heat oil, salt and pepper in deep skillet. Add cabbage, celery, bean sprouts, water chestnuts and sugar. Stir in chicken broth, cook about 10 minutes. Blend cornstarch, water and soy sauce. Add to vegetable mixture and stir until mixture thickens. Add chicken. Heat through and serve over hot Chow Mein Noodles.

SAVANNAH BREAD

1/3 cup shortening
3/4 cup chunky-style peanut butter
2/3 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup mashed, ripe bananas
1 3/4 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 cup buttermilk

Cream shortening and add peanut butter. Gradually add sugar, creaming until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in mashed bananas. Sift together remaining dry ingredients and add alternately with buttermilk, mixing until well blended. Spoon batter into greased 8x4x3 inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degree oven one hour or until center tests done. Cool on rack. Makes one loaf.

CARROT PECAN CAKE

1 1/2 cup oil
2 cups sugar
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
4 eggs
3 cups grated carrots
1 cup finely chopped pecans

Combine oil and sugar and mix well. Sift together remaining dry ingredients. Sift half of dry ingredients into sugar mixture and blend. Sift in remaining dry ingredients alternately with eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Add carrots and mix well. Add pecans and blend. Pour into lightly oiled 10-inch tybe pan. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) about one hour, 10 minutes. Cool in pan upright.

I just can't pass up 'free'

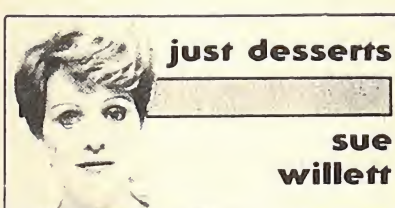

I'm a slave to my passions...and when I see the word sale, I lose control. When I see the word free...there is no hope.

There I was, innocently strolling through the dairy department at the grocery store, and it jumped out at me. Free...Free...Free screamed the huge sign. All I had to do was buy two cans of Pillsbury Crescent Rolls and I got another one of the little pamphlet cook books they have been publishing lately. I ask you, who could resist, especially when the desserts listed in the book, along with some of the main dishes, looked so wonderful in the pictures? Not me.

I admit, I've tried some of the recipes in the past made with this particular product, and the results were less than satisfactory. The dough has apparently been improved, however, and is now flaky enough to make a great dessert or, even better, a super breakfast treat.

So I bought a few cans of the stuff...OK, so I bought several cans, ALRIGHT, the check out girl laughed out loud, but I had a fine time trying all these treats and my freezer is chock full for the holidays.

Next week...CHRISTMAS COOKIES!

MELT AWAY MARSHMALLOW LOAF

1 8-ounce can of Pillsbury Refrigerated Quick Crescent Dinner Rolls
1 Tablespoon margarine, melted
2 Tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup miniature marshmallows
1/4 cup chopped nuts, optional

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Grease a loaf pan. Unroll dough into two long rectangles. Overlap long sides 1/2 inch and firmly press edges and perforations to seal. Press or roll out to form a 12 x 7-inch rectangle and cinnamon. Sprinkle over margarine. Distribute marshmallows and nuts evenly over sugar-cinnamon mixture. Starting at shortest side of dough, roll up. Pinch seams and ends to seal. Place in prepared pan and bake at 375 degrees for 18 to 22 minutes or until golden brown. Immediately remove from pan.

Glaze:
1/3 cup powdered sugar
1 to 2 teaspoons milk
1/4 teaspoon vanilla

In small bowl, combine glaze ingredients. Mix well. Drizzle over warm loaf. Should make 12 servings.

LAZY MAPLE CRESCENT PULL-APARTS

1/4 cup margarine
1/4 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 Tablespoons maple syrup
1/4 cup coarsely chopped pecans or walnuts
1 8-ounce can Pillsbury Refrigerated Crescent Dinner Rolls
1 Tablespoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Heat oven to 375 degrees. In 8 or 9-inch ungreased round cake pan, combine margarine, brown sugar and maple syrup. Place in oven for 3 to 4 minutes or until margarine melts. Blend well. Sprinkle with pecans. Remove dough from can. Do not unroll. Cut each roll into six slices. In small bowl, combine sugar and cinnamon. Dip both sides of each slice in sugar mixture. Arrange slices in pan and sprinkle with any remaining sugar mixture. Bake at 375 degrees for 17 to 23 minutes or until golden brown. Cool 1 minute. Invert onto serving plate. Serve warm.

Goodwill for all Churches unite in celebration

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

Under the direction of Gwenyth Ashe, music coordinator of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville, some 80 voices — representing six different congregations — will participate in the first combined Christmas concert in the area.

Participating in the 3 p.m. Dec. 20 concert are choir members from St. Anthony, Denton Methodist, Romulus Community United Methodist, Belleville United Presbyterian, Trinity Episcopal and the First United Methodist Church plus singers who are not affiliated with a choir.

"The six choirs are a first for the area," Ashe said. "Some of the choirs have performed with other groups in ecumenical services, but never before have we had choir members from six churches singing together. The clergy has been very supportive of the program with some even singing in the choir."

Ashe said the idea for the concert sprang from choir members who had performed in ecumenical services in the past and suggested that the six choirs join together for a Christmas concert.

The combined choir has had three mass rehearsals, she said, with individuals also practicing "on their own time." Their selections will include 10 anthems by either early American or contemporary composers plus selections from Handel's Messiah. "All of the rehearsals are apart from the regular choir practices," Ashe said, noting that each of the six choirs are also practicing for their own Christmas programs in addition to the Dec. 20 concert.

"The choir members are very enthusiastic," Ashe said. "Most of them have purchased their own music. They have committed their time with no compensation because of their interest in music."

Ashe has devoted 35 years to church music, both as a choir director and an organist. She has served as music coordinator at the Belleville church since 1972. Ashe also taught music in the Taylor and Woodhaven schools for a total of 20 years.

At the top, members of the First Methodist Church of Belleville choir rehearse their portion of the concert, while Gwen Ashe, on the organ, Julie Joyce Younk and Julie McCann (front) sing the praises of the season. ANP photos by Paula J. Parkinson

Enjoying Good Health

HEALTH RISK APPRAISAL — AN EYE OPENER TO INCREASE LIFE SPAN

By Walter J. Talamonti, M.D.

More and more, doctors are encouraging patients to take charge of their health by making necessary lifestyle changes which can improve and prolong life.

Now, a new evaluation method is available to assist you and your doctor in planning a program that helps take the guess work out of determining how many more years you may actually gain by making lifestyle changes.

CURRENT HEALTH STATUS

The personal Health Risk Appraisal (HRA), which includes a two-page questionnaire and a computerized analysis, is available to let you know your current health status, and what you can do to improve it. The recommended changes are computed into the number of additional years you may live as a result of these changes.

The HRA examines your personal and family health history, your current health status including weight, blood pressure, and cholesterol levels, as well as your living habits, such as whether you smoke, drink alcohol, drive long distances, and use seat belts. Other factors examined include exercise and stress.

Your status is compared against a group population norm of the same age, sex, and race. Then, a number of years is calculated which could be added to your life, if you modify your risk factors.

CAN ONLY PREDICT

The HRA is a predictor of the effect of these risk factors on your longevity. It does not diagnose health problems. Instead, it should be considered an educational tool. Most patients find the results of their HRA to be an eye-opening experience.

Review of these results with your personal physician usually leads to a greater understanding of what constitutes good health. A program then can be developed and goals set to reduce or eliminate your risk factors. The results of achieving your goals can be measured in terms of a longer, healthier life.

If you are interested in learning more about your health risks, contact the Oakwood Hospital Department of Community Health and Health Education, or call your own doctor.

The HRA form can be made available to you or your physician. And, for a very nominal fee to cover basic costs, a confidential analysis can be presented.

'Bad initiation'

Romulus finds going rough against Pioneers

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It wasn't the sort of initiation that Coach Dan Henry and the Romulus Eagles expected in their newly-found home, the South Central Conference basketball league.

Trailing by as much as 20 points during the second half, Romulus dropped their SAC debut 80-66 Friday night to Ann Arbor Pioneer. The loss came after the Eagles won their non-conference opener earlier in the week at the expense of neighboring Belleville, 63-51.

Entering his third year as head coach, Henry said he was disappointed by the performance.

"They (Pioneer) completely

It wasn't a very impressive way to start a new league. They dominated us, and I was upset at our kids for the poor performance they turned in.

— Dan Henry

dominated us," Henry said later. "This was our first game in a new league and obviously we were hoping for a better showing. Unfortunately, we made too many mistakes and didn't play defense as well as I believe that we can."

One of the major problems that confronted the Eagles was stopping 6-9 center Casey Camman. They didn't. Camman pumped in 11 field goals for 22 points and hauled down 17 rebounds to lead Pioneer.

Pioneer jumped to a 23-15 first period lead and refused to relinquish their advantage the rest of the way. The winner enjoyed a 42-33 edge at half time, then outscored their SAC rivals 21-17 and 17-16 in the final two periods.

Pioneer also managed to get 17 points from Corey Taylor.

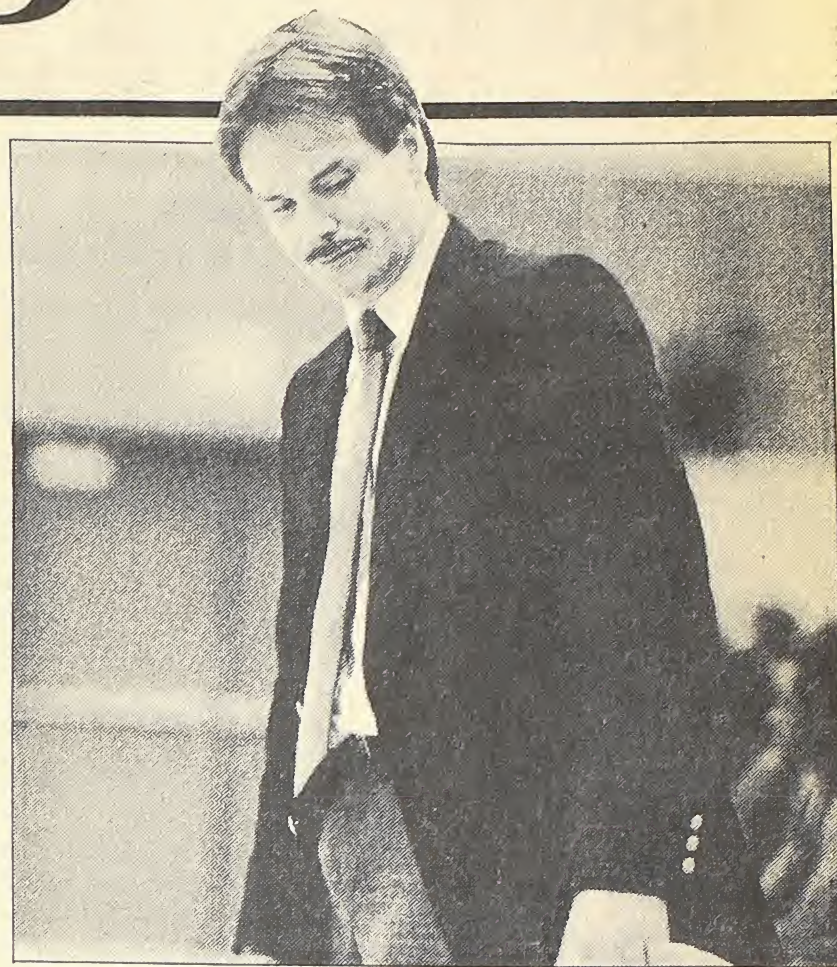

Romulus had three players in double figures. Willie Maull and Alan Hudson had 12 points each while Brent Bonam contributed 11.

Romulus got off to a shaky start last Tuesday, rallying to a 63-51 victory over Belleville. Belleville led 18-12 after one frame and increased that margin to 29-16 after the Eagles shot two of 15 from the floor in the second period.

Paced by 6-2 forward Bonam in the third period, who scored 10 of his 16 points in that stanza, Romulus took command 39-33 going into the final stanza. They sealed it with a 24-18 edge in the final eight minutes.

Maurice Brantley, who scored seven of his 16 points in the first period, was rushed to the hospital after he dove for the ball and hit the stands in the fourth quarter. The Belleville (See INITIATION, page 3-C)

Romulus Coach Dan Henry (above) is angry at his players for their inept play, but he isn't ready to throw in the towel.

Venturini adds Glenn title to wrestling crown

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Proving that he is one of if not the best light weight wrestler in the state this season, undefeated Tony Venturini annexed the 105-pound Westland John Glenn Invitational title to his already impressive list of accomplishments on the mat this year.

The 17-year-old Romulus senior also stretched his personal winning streak to 11-0 as he won all four of his matches at Glenn on falls.

"Tony is getting the job done," said Coach Wayne Schimming. "He is working hard and the results reflect his work."

Although Venturini managed to retain the title he won a year ago at Glenn, the Eagles were forced to step down from the invitational throne. Birmingham Brother Rice won the 17-team meet with a total of 226 team points; John Glenn was runner up with 162.5 followed by the defending champ, Romulus, with 156.

Trailing the invitational leaders were: Mt. Clemens (114.5), Plymouth Salem (96), Livonia Stevenson (82), Lincoln Park (81), Warren Woods Tower (64.5), Garden City (61), South Lyon (56.5), Plymouth Canton (56.5), Farmington (40), Wayne Memorial (38), Southfield Lathrup (27.5), Birmingham Seaholm (22) and Livonia Churchill (22).

Venturini launched his bid for his second major invitational title in as many weeks with a victory over Seaholm's Ken Winkelman in 1:50, then he disposed of Can-

Belleville wrestlers will travel to Howell on Saturday to compete in a 17-team tournament. They have won two of their three dual meets this season and have an outside chance of winning the Wolverine 'A' Conference championship. Monroe remains the team to beat in the conference this year. It's show time for Vikings

ANP Staff Writer

Hoping to recover from their first setback of the 1987 basketball campaign, Coach George Thompson Jr. will take his cage show on the road Friday night.

Thompson and his Inkster Vikings clash with Oak Park, considered one of the finest Class B teams in the state this year. The Parkers are 3-0 on the season. Inkster will take a 2-1 overall record into the Suburban Athletic Conference opener after losing a 64-62 controversial decision against Detroit Central but surfacing with a 72-71 thrilling victory over Ypsilanti last week.

"We have a lot of respect for Oak Park," said Thompson who is still looking for a take-command point guard after two weeks of action. "We know they have the potential talent to give anyone a run for their money, and we're still struggling."

"Although my team is playing well in spots, we don't have that point guard that I am looking for."

Inkster found itself struggling against Central which leaped to a 18-10 first period lead before the Vikings roared back and outscored them 19-4 on the strength of Andre Hardy's eight points and five each from James Poole and Lorenzo Terrell in the second period.

Up 29-23 at the intermission, Thompson saw that lead dissipate as Central struck back 21-

Fordson spoils Garland's Wolverine coaching debut

Stevenson in the season opener, then fell victim to Romulus and Fordson last Tuesday and Friday, respectively.

Belleville went into the conference opener without the services of 6-6 senior center Maurice Brantley who suffered a concussion, diving for a loose ball in the Romulus game. Brantley was rushed to Ann Arbor Hospital then later was taken to St. Joseph's in Ypsilanti by his parents.

"His (Brantley's) parents said that they were going to take him for an examination over the weekend," said Garland. "He was pretty shaken up, and we don't know if he will be able to play."

"Without him in the line up, we have problems," Garland continued. "Maurice is a team leader and his loss has shattered the team's confidence. We led all of the first half against Romulus and if he (Brantley) had been in the lineup, I believe it would have been a different kind of game against Fordson."

Close right up to the final whistle, Belleville couldn't muster enough offense to stop

Are the Bulldogs for real?

Willow Run to test unbeaten Robichaud

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Are the 1987 Robichaud Bulldogs for real?

First-year coach Monte Dennard will find out Friday night when his Canines take on preseason Suburban Athletic Conference title favorite Willow Run. The Dearborn Heights' cagers will place a 2-0 record on the block as the Flyers go after their fourth consecutive victory.

"According to what I read in the papers Willow Run has one of the finest teams in the state this year," said Dennard who is a former Robichaud cage star that inherited the club from William Ayler. Ayler stepped down after the 1986-87 season after four years as head coach. His 1985 club reached the Class B state quarterfinals before losing to Saginaw Buena Vista.

Dennard has yet to taste defeat as a Bulldog coach. His team launched the season with a thrilling, last shot, last second 59-58 victory over an always respectable Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Last week Robichaud rallied from a 31-27 halftime deficit to stop Detroit Southeastern, 78-68.

Balanced scoring in the second half apparently was the difference, according to the Bulldog coach.

All-Area girls cage team next week

Just in time for the holidays, the Associated Newspapers will present the 1987 All-Area girls' basketball team.

Led by New Boston Huron's outstanding players, who captured their conference and the Class B district title before being eliminated by defending Class B state champs, Divine Child, this year's team is loaded with talent.

The ANP sports staff will also select a "Coach of the Year."

Among schools represented on the All-Area are Belleville, Romulus, Dearborn Heights Robichaud and Inkster high schools.

Robichaud covets lost swim SAC throne

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

After dominating the Suburban Athletic Conference swim world for more than a decade, the Bulldogs of Robichaud and Coach Jim Hadley stepped down from their throne and yielded to Highland Park.

Last year the Parkers were pried from the top perch by Willow Run.

Now Hadley and his swimmers want their throne back. "This team gives me the best depth we have had in years," said Hadley after his tankers turned back River Rouge 121-46 and Oak Park 114-53 for two easy SAC victories. "I believe we have the potential and the talent to regain the title we once owned for 10 consecutive

However, Hadley warns that his team's inexperience may prove an obstacle that would prevent them from reaching their goal of winning the title.

"We're young and inexperienced and when you have that combination, it could prove too much to overcome."

The Bulldogs discovered last night just what to expect this season in their quest for the title. They were scheduled to swim Willow Run, at the defending champs' pool. (Results were not available at press time.)

In the meantime, Robichaud garnered eight of 11 first places in their SAC opener against Rouge as Jason Francis, Mike Klix and Robert Stewart each turned in with double victories. Francis put the 200-yard and the 500-yard freestyle events in the Bulldog victory columns with 2:27.4 and 6:49.2 performances, respectively.

Klix swam a 25.4 in winning the 50-yard freestyle and posted a 59.7 in winning the 100-yard freestyle. Stewart was clocked in 2:41.0 in winning the 200-yard individual medley and 1:13.8 for his victory in the 100-yard breaststroke.

With Robbe Patrick, Stewart, Ken Wood and Russ Schumake in the lineup, the Bulldogs also took the 200-yard medley relay (2:03.5). Their freestyle relay team of Klix, Jason and Joe Francis, and Joe Petre finished with the winning time of 4:33.8.

Meantime, Belleville opened up the 1987 season last week by presenting fourth year coach Bill Snider with a 49-34 victory over non-conference rival Adrian.

Eric Snider, the coach's son, provided two of the Tigers' (See SWIM, Page 3-C)

LYNNE NIBERT WRAPPED up her volleyball career on a strong note this season as she turned in a fine performance in the Mid-American Conference Tournament. The senior co-captain of the Bowling Green State University Falcons chalked up a total of 12 kills, a hitting percentage of .189, 22 digs and four service aces during the Falcons' second-place finish in the conference. Nibert finished the season in fifth place in the MAC in blocks per game with a 1.18 mark on 110 kills in 93 games. On the year, the four-year veteran totaled 186 kills and a hitting percentage of .267, 39 service aces and 228 digs. Nibert is a native of Westland.

A LOCAL MEMBER OF the 1987-88 National Champion Lady Ocelot soccer team at Schoolcraft College received an individual honor from the National Junior College Athletic Association. Jennifer Flowers of Westland was honored as the NJCAA most valuable forward. Three of her teammates and her coach were also honored by the NJCAA.

A JUNIOR BASKETBALL league sponsored by the Inkster Parks and Recreation Department has an organizational meeting for 6 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 17, at the Inkster Recreational Complex, 2025 Middlebelt Road, Inkster. League play is scheduled to begin Saturday, Jan. 9. In addition, a winter co-ed volleyball league is being formed and an organizational meeting is being staged in conjunction with the basketball league. Volleyball league play is scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. Jan. 23. Further information on either program is available by contacting Ruth E. Williams, athletic/seasonal program supervisor, at 728-7530.

ADRIAN COLLEGE HAS awarded varsity letters to 110 athletes in seven fall sports. Letter winners from the local area include: Kerry Erickson, an Adrian senior who lives in Westland, received a letter in men's cross country; and Paul Fletcher, a senior residing in Canton, received a letter jacket in recognition of a third varsity football award. Also receiving a football letter were Mark Kerpet and Paul Pomorski of Westland and Matt Santilli of Canton.

THE CANTON SOCCERDOME is now accepting limited team and individual registrations for the upcoming second indoor soccer session, which will begin Jan. 4. All age divisions are available for both men and women. The cost per team for an eight-game session is $575 (teams with members younger than 8 may play for $325). Entry deadline for the session is Dec. 31. Further information is available by calling 483-5624 or 397-1000.

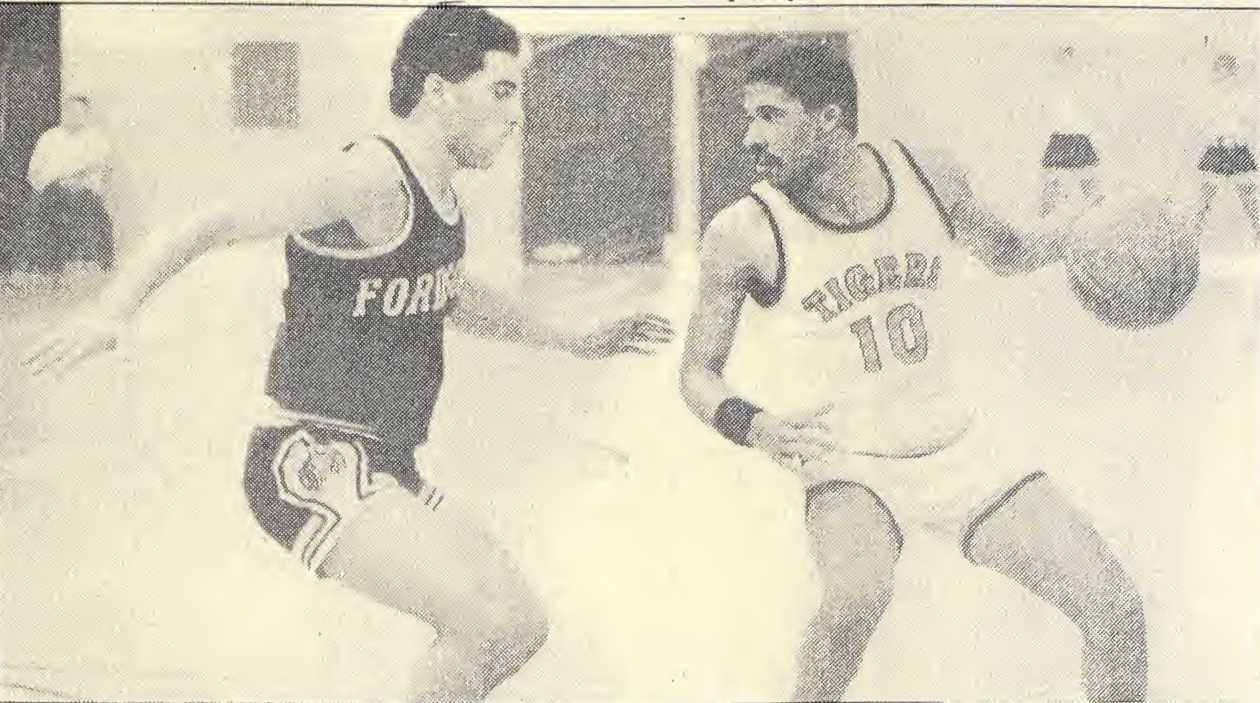

MICHIGAN STATE PARK managers offer a Christmas stocking-stuffer suggestion that is inexpensive and sure to please the nature lover on your gift list. For only $10, you can give your hiker, boater, skier, fisherman or camper a 1988 Michigan State Park motor vehicle permit. The permit allows entry to all 86 Michigan state parks and recreation areas year-round. Permits may be purchased at any park location or by contacting the Department of Natural Resources, Information Services Center, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing, Mich. 48909. Further information is available by calling 517-373-1220.

the Tractors who led 11-10 after one period and 25-23 at intermission. Trailing by seven after three periods (44-37), Belleville made its move during the closing minutes of the game and overcame the deficit when Mike Gentry sank a basket to put the Tigers up 46-44. But they couldn't hang on.

who had a total of two points for his first two outings, erupted for 19 against the Tigers. Fordson's all-league guard Walker Zaban was held to eight.

Darrick Coleman picked up 16 points for the Tigers and Andre Brantley, filling in for his injured brother, contributed eight.

Belleville had a nonconference game last night against Northville and will return to conference play Friday against Trenton.

1:50, then he disposed of Canton's Matt Keeler in 2:55 and wrestled Mike Daniels to a pin in 4:44. Mt. Clemens's Clarence Weaver lasted 3:43 before the official declared the Romulus grappler as the winner.

Romulus also boasted a pair of tournament runners-up. Heavyweight Paul Nowicki lost his bid for a gold and settled for a silver when Lincoln Park wrestler Tony Ruehle was awarded an 8-5 victory over the Eagle grappler. Romulus's 138-pounder, Rick Champagne, finished second after losing in the consolation round to Mt. Clemens' Arnett Turner, 7-2.

The Eagles received third-place performances from Tim Kosikowski (11) and Dennis Corder (132), while Greg Grizzle was fourth at 198.

Although satisfied with his team's overall performance at the tournament, Schimming said that he "was, of course, disappointed that my team didn't repeat."

"But I was experimenting with our lineup and moving people around, so finishing third against some of the finest teams in the state isn't that bad," he said.

On Thursday, Romulus will receive its baptismal in the South Central Conference. The Eagles will take on Ypsilanti at 6:30 p.m. They competed in the SAC as an independent a year ago and surfaced with the unofficial championship.

This year Schimming and his grapplers would like to make it official.

In the meantime, Schimming will leave the team to his assistant Norm Butler while he checks into Heritage Hospital for minor surgery. He will return to the helm of the team after the Christmas Holidays. The Eagles have the Trenton Invitational on Dec. 19.

Snider also anchored the winning 200-medley relay, combining with Bryan Bogardus, Mark Duda and Mike Ackron for a 1:48.5.

Belleville finished 1-2 behind Doug Duff (1:59.6) and Eric

Lawson (2:00.4) in the 200-yard freestyle. Tiger divers also dominated the competitions thanks to Gordon Clearwood and Tim Murphy who piled up 250.15 and 200.10 points, respectively. Duda was an individual event winner, touching in at 1:02.11 for the 100-yard butterfly, while Ackron won the 100-yard breaststroke with his 1:06.77 effort.

Initiation

Belleville senior apparently suffered a concussion and was not in the Tiger lineup Friday night in the Fordson game.

"We got off to a shaky start, a typical first-game performance," said Henry. "When you make only two of 15 shots, needless to say, that's horrendous"

Mauil paced all scorers with 24 on six field goals and 8 of 11 at the free throw line and Bonam chipped in 16 while Hudson added 11 for the Eagles who made nine of 17 free throws for their opening day victory.

Brantley finished with 16; Darrick Coleman, with 11, was the only other Tiger in double figures.

Belleville canned only three of 17 at the free throw line and Coach Michael Garland attributed the ineptness to make foul shots as one of the reasons for his team and his first defeat as head coach.

Belleville will take a 1-0 league record up against Trenton when the two Wolverine 'A' Conference clash tonight in the Tiger den.

On the mats

Although they haven't fared well in invitational competition this season, Belleville has two outstanding wrestlers in Chris Farmer and Mike Braswell who captured gold medals at the tough Ypsilanti Tournament. Belleville, a perennial Wolverine "A" Conference title threat, will have to get some points from the middle weight classes if the Tigers are to end on top of the conference mats.

All tied up with a wrestling problem, Belleville's Marty Kasperek has managed to emerged from the mats three of five times he had stepped on to the mats. ANP photo by Memory Photographic of Belleville

Although the team finished in the middle of the pack, Belleville's Chris Farmer and Mike Braswell wound up on top of the hill at the Ypsilanti High Invitational Wrestling Tournament staged over the weekend.

Farmer, a 105 pounder, defeated Lake Orion's Greg Benninger in a 1:18 fall to claim his first place medal, while Braswell, a 138-pounder, edged Novi's Dan Brogan for his victory.

"I felt it was a good tournament for us," said Belleville coach Gerald Malacek. "But, obviously, there is a lot of room for improvement."

Lake Orion won the Ypsilanti tournament with a total of 164 points, followed by Davison (157), Novi (157), Monroe (88), Saline (87), Edsel Ford (74.5), Belleville (73), Northville (56), North Farmington (49), Harper Woods Notre Dame (47) and Ypsilanti (35.5).

Farmer launched his bid for the gold medal against Notre Dame's Robert Cooke who he erased from his path in 1:17. He then pinned Edsel Ford's Glenn Hess in 1:08, a victory that was his ticket to the championship round where he met and destroyed Benninger.

Braswell did not have an easy time climbing to the top of the 138-pound pile. He won a clear-cut 4-0 decision over Ypsilanti's Joe Muscato, then had to beat Orion's Kevin Wiscomber. Wiscomber yielded only after a good struggle, 7-3. That set up the Braswell-Brogan match that went down right to the wire and the Tiger grappler earned a thrilling 4-3 decision.

Belleville also received a fourth place performance from its 165-pounder Darryl Ramie. Earlier in the season, Belleville defeated out of league rival, Garden City, 39-26, and opened the Wolverine 'A' Conference phase of the season with a 40-33 victory over Dearborn Fordson. The Tigers digested their first dual meet loss of the campaign when Ann Arbor Pioneer emerged with a 37-30 triumph over their non-conference foes.

High school sports come to an abrupt end this Saturday as students take a break for the Christmas Holidays. After the Howell Invitational on Friday, the Tigers will return to the mats on Jan. 2.

CITY OF ROMULUS CHAPTER 18, ARTICLE 1.2

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND CHAPTER 18, ARTICLE 1, THE CABLE COMMUNICATION FRANCHISE ORDINANCE REGULATING CABLE TELEVISION SYSTEMS WITHIN THE CITY: PROVIDING FOR CITY REGULATION OF THE USE THEREOF CONSISTENT WITH FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION RULES AND REGULATIONS; SETTING FORTH CONDITIONS AND FEES ACCOMPANYING THE GRANTING OF CABLE TELEVISION SYSTEM FRANCHISES; PROVIDING FOR OPERATIONAL STANDARDS; ESTABLISHING CONDITIONS FOR THE USE OF CITY STREETS, ALLEYS, SIDEWALKS, BRIDGES, AND OTHER CITY-OWNED RIGHT-OF-WAY AND CITY-OWNED PROPERTY; TO ESTABLISH A CITY OF ROMULUS CABLE COMMUNICATION COMMISSION; AND PROVIDING FOR PENALTIES FOR VIOLATIONS.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF ROMULUS, MICHIGAN:

SECTION 1: Short Title: This ordinance shall be known and may be cited as the Amended Romulus Cable Communication Franchise Ordinance.

SECTION 2: Definitions: Section 4.4-3, Subsection (1) is hereby repealed and a new Subsection (1) is adopted as follows:

Section (1) "Cable System" shall be synonymous with the term cable system as defined in the Cable Communication Policy Act of 1984.

Subsection (6) "System" is deleted.

SECTION 3: Qualifications of Franchisee and Grant of Authority: Section 4.4-4, Subsection (1) (b) is hereby repealed and a new subsection (b) is adopted as follows:

(b) No person shall use, occupy, or traverse the streets, alleys, lanes, avenues, boulevards, sidewalks, bridges, viaducts, right-of-ways or any other public place or public way in the City of Romulus or any extensions thereof or additions thereto, whether on, above or under the surface of the ground, for the purposes of installing, constructing, maintaining or operating a cable communications system or facility therefor or for the purpose of furnishing a cable communications service without such person having first obtained a franchise therefor from the City of Romulus in the form of a franchise agreement between the City of Romulus and the Franchisee, which franchise agreement shall include, at a minimum, compliance with all the specifications of this Ordinance, except to the extent that the Ordinance may be preempted by Federal law.

SECTION 4: Section 4.4-4, Subsection 3 is hereby repealed and a new Subsection 3 is adopted to read as follows:

Section (3) Franchise Term: A franchise granted under this Ordinance shall not exceed fifteen (15) years from date of grant subject to renewal for periods of reasonable duration on the same terms and conditions as contained herein, or on such different or additional terms and conditions as may be lawfully specified by the City and as are consistent with the requirements of Section 626 of the Cable Communications Policy Act of 1984, 47 U.S.C.A. Sub Section 546, and part 76 of the Rules of the Federal Communications Commission, 47, C.F.R. Part 76. A franchisee's application for franchise renewal shall be granted provided the franchisee makes the showing required for renewal in the Cable Communications Policy Act of 1984.

SECTION 5: Section 4.4-4, Subsection 5 is hereby repealed and a new Subsection 5 is adopted as follows:

Section (5) Liability and Indemnification: The franchisee shall indemnify the City for, and hold it harmless from all liability, damage, cost or expense arising from claims of injury to persons or damage to property occasioned by reason of any conduct undertaken by the franchisee or its agents pursuant to this Ordinance. This City shall notify the Franchisee's representative within thirty (30) days after the presentation of any claim or demand on the City, either by suit, or otherwise, made against the City. A Franchisee further agrees as follows:

SECTION 6: Section 5(d) is hereby repealed and a new Subsection 5(d) is adopted as follows:

(d) Every Franchisee shall, within thirty (30) days of the grant of a franchise to it pursuant to this Ordinance, file with the City Clerk, and all times thereafter maintain in full force and effect for the term of the franchise, at its expense, a corporate construction bond, or such other surety arrangement as the Council may approve, in the amount of Ten thousand ($10,000.00) dollars, conditioned upon the faithful performance by such Franchisee of its obligations under its franchise as herein set forth, and upon the further condition that if such Franchisee shall fail to comply with any provision of this Ordinance, there shall be recovery from such bond of any damages or loss suffered by the City as a result thereof, including the full amount of any compensation, indemnification, or cost of removal of any property of such Franchisee as provided in this Ordinance plus attorney's fees and costs, up to the full amount of bond, said condition to be a continuing obligation for the duration of any franchise granted under this Ordinance and any renewal thereof and thereafter until such Franchisee has liquidated all of its obligations with the City which may have arisen under the franchise or from the exercise of any privilege or right granted thereby. Any bond provided under this section shall provide that at least thirty (30) days prior notice of any intention not to renew, to cancel or to make a material change therein shall be filed with the City Clerk. Nothing herein shall be construed to excuse faithful performance by any cable communication company or in any way to limit its liability for damages or otherwise.

SECTION 7: Section 4.4-5, Subsection 13 is hereby repealed and a new subsection 13 is adopted as follows:

Section (13) Line Extensions: It shall be the obligation of the Franchisee to make service available to approximately 95% of the residents of the City, who can practically be served, at a minimum rate without unjust discrimination, undue preferences or advantages. Franchisee shall extend service to new subscribers at the normal installation charge and monthly rate. Any other prospective subscriber wishing service may obtain hook-up at a negotiated rate with the Franchisee.

SECTION 8: Section 4.4-6, Subsection (1) is hereby repealed and a new Subsection (1) is adopted as follows:

Section (1) Procedures: No franchise renewal shall be effective except pursuant to a proceeding which affords the public in the franchise area appropriate notice and participation for the purpose of identifying cable-related community needs and interests and identifying the performance of the cable operator during the past franchise term. The franchisee shall be afforded fair opportunity for full participation in such proceeding in accordance with the Cable Communications Policy Act of 1984.

SECTION 9: Section 4.4-6, Subsection 3, is hereby repealed, and a new Subsection 3 is adopted as follows:

Section (3) Approval of Transfer: The Franchisee shall not sell lease assign, or transfer its system to another nor transfer any rights under this Ordinance or the Franchise Agreement except to a wholly owned subsidiary or to a lending institution in order to obtain financing in which case the City shall receive written notice and provide written approval, which shall not be unreasonably withheld if the vendee, assignee or lessee has filed with the City an instrument duly executed, reciting the fact of such sale, assignment of lease, accepting the terms of this Ordinance as amended and agreeing to perform all conditions thereof that have not been preempted by federal law, however, in the event the Franchisee shall wish to effectuate such a transfer the City shall be notified in writing by means of certified mail delivered to the City Clerk of such intention at least ninety (90) days prior to the intended transfer or such other lesser time as the City desires, and the City shall retain the first option to purchase on terms at least as favorable as the intended transferee. However, in the event the City shall elect to purchase said franchise the price paid shall be fair market value of such franchise as a going concern.

SECTION 10: Section 4.4-7, Subsection (1) is repealed and a new Subsection (1) is adopted as follows:

Section (1) The Franchisee shall install, construct, maintain, operate and improve its cable system in good working order in accordance with any standards of operation or maintenance for a cable system which may be established or issued by the FCC.

SECTION 11: Section 4.4-7, Subsection 2(a) is hereby repealed and a new Subsection 2(a) is adopted as follows:

Subsection (2)(a) At least one (1) specifically designated noncommercial public access channel and maintain and have available for public use, equipment, facilities and studio adequate for production and programming on this channel.

SECTION 12: Delete Section 4.4-7, Subsection (3) and Subsection (4).

SECTION 13: Section 4.4-7, Subsection (6), is hereby repealed and a new Subsection (6) is hereby adopted:

Section (6) Standby Power: To the extent that is commercially and economically practicable to the Franchisee, the Franchisee shall maintain in constant readiness equipment capable of providing standby power for the headend and truck amplifiers for a minimum of four (4) hours.

SECTION 14: Deleted - Subsection (7)

SECTION 15: Section 4.4-7, Subsection (9) is hereby repealed and a new Subsection (9) is adopted as follows:

Section (9) To the extent commercially and economically practicable to the Franchisee, the cable system shall include an active two-way system.

SECTION 16: Section 4.4-8, is repealed, and a new Section 4.4-8 is adopted as follows:

Section 4.4-8 Modification of FCC Rules: Consistent with requirements of the FCC rules and regulations and any modification thereof resulting from amendment thereto by the FCC and shall be incorporated in this Ordinance by specific amendments thereto by the lawful action of the City Council within one (1) year from the effective date of the FCC's amendment or at the time of renewal of this Ordinance, whichever occurs first, provided, however, that if the Council fails to act in a timely manner to amend this Ordinance, the Ordinance will be deemed to be amended by operation of law effective as of the effective date of the rules and regulations of the FCC. It being understood that, in the interim, the Council will not seek to give effect to any provision of this Ordinance which has been preempted or superceded by the FCC.

SECTION 17: Section 4.4-9, Subsection (4) is repealed and a new subsection (4) is adopted as follows:

Section (4) Liability: Except for any liability which may accrue to the City with regard to its programming on any City access channel or any public, educational, or governmental channel, the Franchisee shall defend, indemnify and hold the City harmless from all liability, damage, cost or expense (including reasonable attorney fees) arising from claims for injury to persons or damages to property occasioned by reason of this Ordinance, irrespective of any negligence or fault of the City, its agents or employees, including actions for defamation. The City shall not and does not by reason of this Ordinance assume any liability of the Franchisee whatsoever for injury to persons or damages to property.

SECTION 18: Section 4.4-9, Subsection 7(a) is hereby repealed and a new Subsection 7(a) is adopted as follows:

(a) A Franchisee is expected to comply with the applicable rules and regulations of the Federal Communications Commission dealing with radio interference to other services in order to prevent interference to reception of off-the-air television and radio signals.

SECTION 19: Section 4.4-9, Subsection (10) is repealed and a new Subsection (10) is adopted as follows:

Section (10) Subscriber Rates and Charges: No Franchisee may increase any rate or charge for cable communication services except in accordance with the Cable Communication Policy Act of 1984, nor shall Franchisee alter any classification, contract, rule, regulation or practice as to result in an increase in its schedule of rates or charges for such service except in accordance with the Act.

SECTION 20: Section 4.4-11, Subsection (3) is hereby repealed and a new Subsection (3) is adopted as follows:

Section (3) No person shall intercept or receive or assist in intercepting or receiving any communications service offered over a cable system, unless specifically authorized to do so by a cable operator and without payment to the Franchisee for same. Violations of this Section shall be punished in accordance with the Cable Communications Policy Act of 1984, 47 U.S.C.A. Sub Section 553.

SECTION 21: Section 4.4-12, is hereby repealed and a new Section 4.4-12 is adopted as follows:

Section 4.4-12: Additional Regulations: The City maintains the right to adopt, in addition to the provisions contained in this Ordinance, such additional regulations as it shall find necessary in the exercise of its police power; provided, however, that such regulations are reasonable and not materially in conflict with the privileges granted in this Ordinance, or the Cable Communications Policy Act of 1984, as amended as implemented by the FCC.

SECTION 22: Section 4.4-13, Subsection (3)(b) and (3)(f) are hereby repealed and a new Subsection (3)(b) and (3)(f) are adopted as follows:

Subsection (3)(e) is deleted.

(b) In cases where customer complaints are unsatisfied by the Franchisee's responses to complaints of service failures, or poor service, the Commission shall have the power to make adjustments which may take the form of the following:

(f) Recommend to the Council suggestions relating to the public access channels with a view to maximizing the diversity of programs and services to subscribers.

SECTION 23: Section 4.4-15, Subsection (2) is repealed and a new Subsection (2) is adopted as follows:

Section (2) Civil Penalty: If any Franchisee fails to perform a material obligation under this Ordinance, the City may assess civil penalties in accordance with the schedule set forth below, but only to the extent that such schedule is not preempted by Federal law. The imposition of such penalties shall not constitute a waiver of rights or an election by the City of any remedy that it might otherwise have available by reason of a franchise agreement, at common law, or by reason of other civil or administrative agency or tribunal.

SECTION 24: Section 4.4-15, Subsection (3) is repealed and a new Subsection (3) is adopted as follows:

Section (3) Severability: If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, phrase or portion of this Ordinance is for any reason held invalid or unconstitutional by any Court of competent jurisdiction, as preempted by Act of Congress or final rule or decision of the Federal Communications Commission, such portion shall be deemed a separate and independent provision and such holding shall not effect the validity of any remaining portions of this Ordinance; it being the intent of the Council of the City of Romulus that this Ordinance shall stand notwithstanding the validity of any article, section, subsection, sentence, clause, phrase or portion.

SECTION 25: Effective: This Ordinance shall take immediate effect upon publication.

I, Linda R. Choate, Clerk for the City of Romulus, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of an ordinance adopted by the Romulus City Council at its regular meeting held on the 10th day of November, 1987.

Linda R. Choate, Clerk
City of Romulus

ATTEST:

Beverly, McAnally, Mayor

Within forty-five (45) days after the publication of any ordinance duly passed by the Council, a petition may be presented to the Council protesting against such ordinance continuing in effect. Said Petition shall contain the text of such ordinance and shall be signed by not less than six (6%) percent of the registered electors registered at the last preceding election at which a Mayor of the City was elected. Said ordinance shall thereupon and thereby suspended from operation and the council shall immediately reconsider such ordinance.
